ANOTHER MAN NAMED TO TRY JOB IN FRANCE

Schuman Agrees To Attempt Forming Government; Strikes Spread.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 22—Robert Schuman, finance minister and member of the popular Republican movement (MRP), announced today that he had agreed to try and form a new French government.

Schuman made his announcement to reporters upon emerging from a conference with President Vincent Auriol.

He then left at once for his offices in the finance ministry to begin consultations with party leaders prior to going before the national assembly to demand a vote of confidence in the face of a rising tide of Communist-engineered labor difficulties.

The Chamber refused last night to give venerable Leon Blum enough support to become premier.

The 61-year-old Schuman, born at Luxembourg, was the sixth political leader to confer with Socialist President Auriol this morning. Others included former Premier Paul Reynaud and two former ministers, Andrew Marie and Yvon Delbos, both of whom said they turned down the job of premier because of their health.

Little known to the general public, Schuman generally has come to be regarded as a financial expert.

Railway Stalled By French Strikes

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 22 — Spreading French strikes stalled rail traffic on the great Marseille-Paris line today and officials announced that saboteurs had cut telephone lines connecting two army forts on the outskirts of the capital.

It was estimated nearly 700,000 workers were idle throughout France as a result of the Communist-inspired walkouts which have virtually choked off economic activity in Marseille, Toulon and other cities.

This was the situation in some of the focal points.

The strikes were being backed energetically by the Communist party.

Sees Possible General Strike in Italy

By The Associated Press

ROME, Nov. 22—Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist leader of the left-wing Socialists, declared today a general strike might be called throughout all Italy to protest what he termed violence against Italian workers.

"The parties of the mass cannot do less than defend the workers," Nenni told a news conference. "That will have weight and end this drop-by-drop violence."

James J. Davis, Steel Worker, Cabinet Member, Senator, Dies

JAMES J. DAVIS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — James J. "Puddler Jim" Davis, who came to America as the seven-year-old son of poor Welsh immigrants and rose to become secretary of labor and senator from Pennsylvania, died early today of a kidney ailment.

He had been ill for several months, and had been in nearby Tacoma Park sanitarium since September. He was 74 years old.

Largely self-educated, Davis started to work in a Sharon, Pa., steel mill as his father's helper when he still was in his early teens.

When he was 16, he became a steel "puddler"—a job of which he was proud for the rest of his life, and which earned him his nickname.

Davis later moved to Elwood, Ind., and there as a member of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, first entered politics.

Long Leader of Moose

At about the same time, he joined the Loyal Order of the Moose, becoming director-general in 1906, and holding that position until his death.

He was appointed secretary of labor by President Harding in 1921. Nine years later, after serving under President's Coolidge and Hoover, he quit to accept appointment as Republican senator from Pennsylvania.

He was reelected for full six-year terms in 1932 and 1938, but was defeated in a close race in 1944 by the present incumbent, Francis J. Myers, a Democrat.

After his defeat Davis remained in Washington, devoting most of his time to the Order of the Moose, particularly its children's home and school in Mooseheart, Ill.

Working with John Meikle, a graduate of the school, Davis was engaged at the time of his death in raising a $10,000,000 endowment for Mooseheart. About $1,500,000 had been collected when he died.

As a member of the senate during most of Franklin Roosevelt's presidential tenure, Davis was often extremely critical of New Deal policy.

Labor Support Varies

Labor organizations varied in their support of Davis. In 1938 he was backed by William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, but was opposed by other labor groups, including the CIO and the Pennsylvania state AFL organizations.

In 1932, Davis and seven others were indicted on charges of violating lottery laws in connection with Moose activities. He insisted on his innocence and demanded a speedy trial. The case eventually was dropped.

Davis' wife, the former Jean Rodenbaugh of Pittsburgh, died in 1940. He had four daughters, Jewel and Jean—who lived with him in Washington—Jane, of New York City and Joan, of Gaithersburg, Md. He also had one son, James Jr., a lawyer in Philadelphia.

GENERAL'S STORY DENIED. The husband and mother of Mrs. Mildred Lamarre of Covington, Ky., above, have denied the story of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers that he set up the Aviation Electric Co. at Dayton for the benefit of Mrs. Lamarre, his "girl friend." The husband, Heriot H. Lamarre, who has been a star witness against Meyers in the senate investigation of the general's wartime financial activities, yesterday told the investigating committee he "hoped it would make Meyers crawl out of this room on his belly like the snake he is." Mrs. Lamarre's mother in Cincinnati termed the general's story "absolutely false."

'Rotten Apple Found in Barrel,' Says Gen. Arnold.

BULLETIN

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced today that the justice department will go before a federal grand jury here next week to ask for criminal indictments against Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—The senate war investigating subcommittee closed its inquiry into the tangled wartime dealings of Bennett E. Meyers today with an announcement by Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) that the entire record is being sent to prosecuting officers for possible criminal actions.

The committee wound up the hearings after hearing General Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, wartime head of the Air Forces, testify that "on the evidence before you, a high ranking officer has disgraced his uniform and his rank."

Arnold dramatically thanked the senate investigating group for discovering what he called a "rotten apple in our barrel" as a "wonderful service to the Army, the Air Forces and the nation."

Meyers is a retired major general and during the war was deputy chief of procurement (purchasing) for the Army Air Force.

Ferguson said the committee would take these actions:

►Ask the regular senate banking committee to investigate speculation in government bonds. Meyers testified he and his family at one time bought $4,000,000 in bonds on margins and made paper profits.

►Ask Attorney General Clark and government tax officials to examine the whole record and "take such steps as are necessary."

►Ask the federal district attorney in Washington to examine the testimony of Meyers and others on the "question of perjury."

Ferguson reminded that the special senate committee is not a court and can not prosecute. But, he said congress, courts and the nation could not endure if "false swearing" is permitted.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) broke in to say he agreed and recommended testimony in the case be referred to the U. S. district attorney here for action on "this question of perjury."

Ferguson said the committee will continue its inquiry into wartime contracts but plans no additional immediate public hearings.

Took Meyers at His Word

Arnold told the committee that during the war he accepted Meyers' "word that he no longer held investments from which he might profit" due to his position in the Air Force.

In saying he took Meyers word, Arnold was referring to testimony before the committee that Meyers, also retired, actually held $35,000 worth of stock in seven aircraft companies at a time when he reported to the Air Force he held none.

Arnold told the committee:

"We relied on what we considered General Meyers' word that he no longer held directly or indirectly, investments from which he might profit from his procurement authority.

"On the evidence before you, a high-ranking officer has disgraced his uniform and rank. He was able to do these things without detection by the military.

"If, to our regret, we of the Air Force did not find a rotten apple in our barrel, we are grateful that others have done so.

"If we were at fault in not finding it, we must admit our fault.

"But we can say with all the

Sept. 1 he completed a four month commission with the internal relations division of the Air Transport Association of America. He was graduated from Harding High school in 1946.

Mr. Eastman resides at the Kappa Alpha Mansion 1523 New Hampshire avenue in Washington, D. C. He will arrive home Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents here.

LIONS CLUB BAZAAR WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

550 Attend Second Night Program at Fairgrounds.

The second night's activities at the Marion Lions club bazaar were attended last night by approximately 550 persons.

The bazaar, which is being held in the Junior Fair 4-H building at the Marion fairgrounds, will close tonight. Proceeds from the affair are used to benefit the club's civic projects.

Miss Inez Kraner, city public school nurse, was on hand again last night to operate the Keystone Telebinocular eye testing device, purchased by the club for use in the city schools, and to give free eye examinations to anyone wishing it.

Husband Gets Judgment Against Parents-in-Law

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 22—William James Clayton, 19, of this city, Thursday was awarded damages of $1,290 in his $25,000 "heart balm" suit against his wife's parents, whom he charged with alienating the affections of his wife, Anna Lou, 16.

The jury, in awarding Smith the verdict against Everett and Pondabelle Eddy, returned what is believed to be the first verdict of this type in Union county history. The verdict was unanimous.

Marshall Gets Oxford Degree

U. S. Secretary Honored by Award from Famed English University.

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, Eng., Nov. 22—Secretary of State Marshall declared today agreement among the big powers during the war, when their existence was threatened, seemed easier than at present, "when the facts of the hazards are not quite so clear."

Marshall spoke at Oxford university ceremonies in which he received an honorary degree, doctor of civil law. The degree was conferred by Lord Halifax, chancellor of the university. The secretary is in England for the foreign ministers' conference opening Tuesday, and is reported determined to press for completion of an Austrian independence treaty.

Marshall, who arrived here yesterday by plane from Washington, was described authoritatively as having an "open mind" on German peace treaty issues, ready to consider any new proposals which may be put forward by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in the interest of progress on the German problem.

Neither Soviet nor western power positions on such basic issues as German reparations and government organization have changed since the Moscow conference last spring and it was apparent that the meeting of British, French, Russian and United States diplomats would open in a state of deadlock with little hope for substantial progress.

RUSSIAN DENOUNCES ALLIED GERMAN RULE

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 22 — Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky bitterly denounced the western Allies' administration of occupied Germany at a meeting yesterday of the Allied control council, accusing them of violating the Potsdam and Yalta agreements and other accords on denazification, demilitarization and reparations.

His charges were made public today in a joint communique.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor for Germany, scheduled a news conference to give the American answer to the Russian denunciation.

For nearly two hours, Sokolovsky—the Russian chief in Germany—held the floor in the council and, almost on the eve of the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in London, criticized almost every phase of the occupation in the western zones of Germany.

He charged, among other things, that the British and Americans were attempting to transform their zones into "strongpoints to support the Anglo-American campaign of imperialism in the center of Europe."

TAXI DRIVERS STRIKE

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 22—This city of 70,000 had only two cabs operating today as a result of a strike which Secretary-Treasurer A. V. Walters of the AFL Truck Drivers Local 654 said came "from a combination of grievances." The strike involves 65 drivers employed by the Circle Cab Co., but owner Virgil M. George said no demands had been made to him by the union. The walkout began yesterday. George's firm operates all but two cabs within the city.

FRAZIER REAMS ENTERS '48 GOVERNORSHIP RACE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—Frazier Reams of Toledo, former state welfare director, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1948.

He become the third avowed candidate for the gubernatorial race among the Democrats. The others are Robert Cox of Millersburg and Joseph Torok of Youngstown.

Reams' announcement came as a surprise to some party stalwarts, who are awaiting definite word form former Governor Frank J. Lausche as to his intentions to run or stay out of the campaign next year.

Pollak Steel Mill Ceremony Is Delayed

Ceremonies marking the opening of the Pollak Steel Co.'s new 14-inch finishing mill which were scheduled to be conducted Monday morning have been postponed until Tuesday, company officials announced today.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler will throw the switch that places the new mill in operation during the ceremonies to be witnessed by top company officials and guests between 7 and 8 a. m.

Postponement of the ceremonies was occasioned by failure of concrete in certain installations to harden as quickly as anticipated officials said.

GRAIN LIMIT PROPOSAL OUT

Taft Sees Little Chance for Adoption of President's Proposal on Stock Feeding.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Another of President Truman's 10 cost of living proposals—the one to regulate the amount of grain fed to livestock—went down the drain of Republican opposition in congress today.

It thus met the same fate as his requests for authority to impose limited price-wage ceilings and rationing, both bitterly opposed by Republican leaders.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the senate-house economic committee made it pretty much official by telling reporters:

"I think we can mark No. 5 off the list."

Labeled No. 5

The President's grain control recommendation, labeled No. 5 among the proposed cost of living curbs he presented to congress last Monday, read as follows:

"To authorize measures which will induce the marketing of livestock and poultry at weights and grades that represent the most efficient utilization of grain."

This was designed to cut down the feeding of wheat and corn to cattle, hogs and poultry so that it might be shipped instead to western Europe.

But Secretary of Agriculture Anderson told the senate-house committee yesterday his department has come to the conclusion that no compulsory measure of this sort would work unless accompanied by price control.

He said further that if price control were put into effect, there would be no need for the weights and grades authority.

Sees Little Chance

Taft said that in the light of this testimony and G.O.P. opposition to a return of any kind of consumers' price control, he doesn't see any further use in congress grappling with the grain recommendation.

There was every evidence that most other Republicans on the committee agreed with this view.

UN CLEARS DECK FOR PALESTINE PROBLEM

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 22—The United Nations cleared its work bench today for the last major problem of the 1947 assembly session—a decision on Palestine partition.

Delegates, tired and weary from 10 weeks of heavy debate, predicted possible final adjournment by Tuesday midnight.

In a sudden burst of speed, the assembly cleaned up the few remaining items on its work sheet last night and stood by to take up the Palestine problem.

Top development in the assembly meeting was approval of a U. S. proposal that the newly created "little assembly" study all suggestions for changes in the veto, one of the most controversial questions now in the UN.

Coldest Weather Of Season Hits Midwest

By The Associated Press

The coldest weather in the nation this season swept over the eastern Rockies and the plains states today and the mercury plunged to 17 below at Casper, Wyo.

There were sub-zero marks in parts of Nebraska, the Dakotas and in Kansas as the mass of cool air moved southward and eastward. Colder weather was forecast for the entire midwest area today and tonight, and lower temperatures were predicted eastward into the New England states.

NLRB COMPLAINT ISSUED AGAINST ITU

By The Associated Press

A formal complaint charging the International Typographical Union (AFL) with unfair labor practices has been issued by the national labor relations board as labor disputes involving members of the ITU disrupted normal operations in newspaper plants in Chicago and Detroit.

The complaint, based on charges filed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association Oct. 7, accused the ITU of violating the Taft-Hartley labor-management law with its "no contract" policy.

Action by the NLRB was announced last night in Cincinnati as Chicago's two morning newspapers, The Tribune and The Sun, said operations in their composing rooms had returned to normal, at least temporarily, after several days of "slowdown tactics" by composing room employes.

The Chicago Newspaper Publishers association, which represents six major daily newspapers, has charged the local ITU with repeated "slowdowns" since the union's contract with the association expired on Oct. 21.

In the complaint issued by the NLRB, the ANPA, which represents 400 of the nation's newspapers, charged the union with insisting on continuation of the closed shop clauses in new contracts although the Taft-Hartley law prohibits the closed shop. The ITU also is charged with "slowdowns," "featherbedding," and refusal to bargain collectively.

The complaint will be heard by a NLRB trial examiner on Dec. 9 in Indianapolis, the ITU's national headquarters.

The ANPA said that ITU, which claims about 85,000 members had contracts with 239 daily newspapers in 185 cities which either had expired or will expire by Dec. 31.

In Chicago last night first editions of The Tribune and Sun were three hours late, but later spokesmen said composing room operations returned to normal as employes returned to their jobs on orders of Woodruff Randolph, ITU president. The two newspapers had reported seven consecutive days of "slowdown tactics" in the composing rooms.

SHOTGUN BLAST FATAL

By The Associated Press

CHESAPEAKE, O., Nov. 22—Herbert Clinton Vaugh, 20, of Chesapeake was killed yesterday when his shotgun accidentally discharged.

NAVY CLUB SPONSORS SEA SCOUT TROOP

Application Filed for Charter with Area Council.

The Marion Navy club completed plans Friday night for the sponsorship of a Sea Scout unit and filed an application with the Harding area council for a charter. This unit will be open to all boys 15 to 18 years of age, and training will include elementary to advanced seamanship, sailing, diesel engineering, navigation, signaling and other subjects.

Arthur Watt, chairman of the committee, announced that the Navy department has made several of its surplus items available to groups of this kind, and efforts will be made to secure as much of this equipment as possible.

George H. Power and Mitchell Rech, representing Harding Area Scout council, explained the details necessary for getting a Sea Scout ship "under way," and S. Harold Haughn was selected as "institutional representative" to the council.

It was also announced that a special award of an air trip and week's outing in the upper lake region will be made to boys securing highest merits by the summer season.

Skipper of the group will be Alfred Whittington, assisted by Gail Miller. Boys interested in joining the unit are asked to contact Mr. Whittington, Mr. Watt at the county engineer's office, or Scout headquarters.

MARION YOUNGSTERS SEE SANTA PARADE

A Good Many Adults Also Line Up for Parade.

Santa Claus, the jolly old fellow who makes an appearance each year at Christmas time, accompanied by his wife Mrs. Claus, were officially welcomed and received into Marion today in the annual parade which was made possible by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

A large crowd of boys and girls of all ages, and parents and other grown people, too, lined the downtown streets to see Santa who appeared in the parade along with the characters of storybook fame, the floats made up in keeping with the occasion, and the several bands who provided the Christmas music.

Santa was officially welcomed by Mayor Harry L. Dowler in a ceremony at the courthouse following the parade, and then throughout the afternoon greeted the children at his headquarters in the lobby of the courthouse.

Santa is scheduled to remain in Marion until Christmas Day to talk with all the boys and girls in and near Marion. He will have his headquarters in the main floor of the courthouse where a throne has been erected for him. According to present plans, Santa will be there Monday to Saturday from 10 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m., with the exception of Friday when the hours will be 2 to 4 and 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. He will not receive the children on the Thanksgiving holiday.

U.S. ACTS TO TAKE LAND NEAR WALDO

Delaware Dam Action Filed in Toledo Court.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 22—Condemnation of 887 acres of land in southwestern Marion county near Waldo, O., for use in the federal government's Ohio valley flood control project was asked Friday in proceedings filed in Toledo federal court.

Marcus L. Friedman, assistant U. S. attorney in the Toledo district, said the land was requested by the secretary of war for use in connection with the construction and operation of Delaware dam and reservoir on the Olentangy river. Thirty-nine land owners, most of them residents of Waldo, and the state of Ohio are involved in the action.

The government requested immediate possession of the property and the impaneling of a jury to determine a fair value for the land. The 887 acres are situated near the intersection of U. S. route 23 and state route 98.

CHECK AT GALION TO RESUME TUESDAY

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 22—With some 500 workers to be interviewed, and a total of 216 completed by 6 p. m. Friday, the cross-check of UAW-CIO pledge cards and North Electric Manufacturing Company payroll records will be resumed Tuesday morning, it was announced today by the arbiter, Verner E. Wardlaw.

The schedule for interviews, Tuesday, is 10 to 11:30 a. m., 1 to 6 p. m., and 7:30 to 9 p. m. A spokesman for the company said the company urges all people, whether or not they signed pledge cards, to appear Tuesday. Union officials are asking every person on the payroll Aug. 19 who signed pledge cards, whether or not they are now working at the North plant here, to report for the interviews.

Results of the cross-check which is being conducted to determine whether or not the UAW-CIO had a majority of unit workers at the North plant as of Aug. 19, according to the agreement ending a 74-day strike, will probably not be announced, here, immediately upon completion. It has been indicated by Wardlaw that he will mail the results to the company and the union, simultaneously, from his Columbus office. Wardlaw represents the United States Mediation and Conciliation service, Washington, D. C.

JAPAN'S RISE, FALL DISCUSSED FOR CLUB

Mrs. Idhe, Former Missionary, Addresses Exchange Club.

Guest speaker at the Exchange club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday was Mrs. Irene M. Inde, Methodist missionary who has served in Palestine, France and Japan.

She spoke on the rise and fall of Japan and told of the Japanese ambition to sail into New York and salute the flag of Japan with the noise and flare that Commodore Perry made when he came into Tokyo harbor" as she once heard Tojo tell her husband.

After Perry had shown the Japanese the U. S. Navy and had taken over Formosa and Spain the Philippines, the Japanese thought the white race was moving in and began to grab a little territory for themselves, becoming involved in wars with China, Russia, and finally the United States in World War II.

Now the Japanese outlook is being changed with the replacing of democracy for emperor worship, but the future of Japan depends upon religion and education, she said. Quoting scientists of the world she said "unless religion and education make more rapid strides than ever before the world will be destroyed by the monster created when the atomic energy was discovered and put to use."

Guests of the club were L. D. Brady of Marion, A. F. McCarty of New York City, and the Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of Prospect Street Methodist church, who introduced the speaker. Mrs. Idhe is conducting services this week at the Prospect street church.

CARDINGTON CAR HITS TRUCK AND OVERTURNS

A car driven by John Lorimer, 22, of Cardington, ran into a parked truck and overturned at 2:30 a. m. today, on route 30-S about four miles east of town, the state highway patrol reported. Lorimer was not injured.

The car was damaged. The truck, owned by William Bussey, 24, of New Carlisle, was damaged.

Lorimer was arrested by the patrol and charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He was fined $15 and costs in municipal court today after pleading guilty.

OHIO VETS GET $19 MILLION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—Payments of $19,102,100 to Ohio veterans, their dependents and beneficiaries during October were reported, yesterday by the veterans administration. Included in the total were $8,709,800 for educational benefits, and $7,388,100 for disability compensation.

JOB SITUATION REPORTS GIVEN

Marion Below State Average, Unemployment Figures Show.

The employment trend throughout the state of Ohio as indicated this week in a report from the state bureau of unemployment compensation differs considerably from the local employment situation at present, according to a report from the state employment office here. An optimistic outlook on the state as a whole is contrasted sharply with figures from the Marion area according to a comparison of statewide figures with those available at the Marion office over the last few months.

"The overall employment picture in Ohio is undoubtedly the brightest it has been at any time since the end of World War II," Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the state bureau said this week as he reported the number of benefit recipients to be at the lowest level since September, 1945.

The local employment picture is shown to be quite different. In Marion, new claims for unemployment compensation increased 10 per cent in October over the number accepted six months ago, and continued claims increased 33 per cent in October over the month of May, 1947, according to Fred B. Scherff, manager of the local office.

Comparison Cited

In Marion, comparing the average weekly number of benefit recipients, in October the figure was 210 which was 23 per cent greater than in May, 1947.

Comparing October figures with those of one year ago in Marion, it is found that the number of new claims was 5 per cent greater in October, 1947, than in October 1946, and continued claims were 10 per cent greater in October, 1947, than a year ago. The average weekly number of benefit recipients was 76 per cent greater in October, 1947, than in October, 1946.

Causes Given

The increased number of claims in Marion is due to temporary layoffs as a result of material shortages, and one industry released employes for a short period for construction and remodeling purposes.

Throughout the state, benefit recipients totalled 31,284, Collopy said. The number of recipients—other than veteran—dropped one-fifth off the September figure for a weekly average of 17,463. Veterans drawing benefits under the servicemen's readjustment act, averaged 13,821 per week in October, a 40 per cent drop from the September total, according to statewide figures.

The average weekly benefit for totally unemployed persons, veterans drawing readjustment compensation excepted, was $17.55 in October, representing a rise for the fourth successive month.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"THERE are three surprises," I told my small daughter. "You are not to know about the biggest one for several days, and you must not say anything about it. If you do, you won't have it."

"I'll tie my tongue into knots and put tape on the knots," Faith said emphatically, and I was glad that Dicky's knock gave me the chance to turn my back for an instant on my offspring. At the instant, I wished neither to rebuke her, nor to laugh at her, but my risibles were hard to control.

My husband looked at me quizzically as I swung the door open to him.

"What's the—" he began, but I put my finger to my lips, and he finished the query a bit lamely.

"—price of eggs around here this morning?" he inquired.

"You'll find them on the right hand side of the menu," I told him.

"I never look at that side," he said pompously, "when I'm out with glamor-gals like these."

His sweeping bow included Katharine, Faith and me. Faith giggled, but Katharine's face was as serious as that of a "hanging judge."

"Clever foot work, old boy," she said. "You are walking very easily this morning. You must be wearing dancing shoes."

Faith pursed up her lips.

"H-m!" she said, a mannerism she has copied from her grandfather. "Clever foot work! Doesn't that mean sidestepping? The boys said it did, and 'dodging.' Have you been dodging anything, Daddy?"

"I always dodge when I see Mummy," Dicky told her gravely. "Don't you?"

"No," Faith averred indignantly, then her eyes were reflective.

"We-l-l," she amended, "once in a while, not often, when I've been doing something awfully bad. Is that why you dodge her?"

"No," Dicky said with indignant accents that appeared as genuine as Faith's. "I just dodge on general principles, and I'm betting any odds anybody wants that your husband will be doing the same thing. Before his wedding day I shall warn him."

"But how will you know which one to warn?" Faith asked, completely diverted, as he had hoped. "Three of the boys at the nursery school say they're going to marry me when we grow up. Two of 'em almost had a fight over it," she added smugly, while Dicky, Katharine and I struggled gamely with our laughter muscles, "but the teacher stopped 'em. They were game though," she finished. "They wouldn't tell the teacher what they were scrapping over, but they told me."

"That was nice of them," her father assured her gravely. "Have you decided which one of them is to come and ask me for your hand? I want to put on my best pair of boots for the occasion."

Faith giggled, as she always does at her father's sallies.

"Why boots?" she asked curiously.

"The better to impress him with, my dear'," her father misquoted, and Faith's eyes widened.

"Why, you sound exactly like the old wolf in Little Red Riding Hood," she said. "But"—she reverted to his question—"I haven't decided yet. The other girls say you never do till you've had at least six tell you they want to be engaged to you."

Dicky choked, cleared his throat, and turned to Katharine and me.

"I suppose that's modern education," he said.

"Modern nothing," Katharine answered. "I think I was three when I first promised a boy I'd marry him."

"Madge!" Dicky thundered. "Don't tell me you've been holding out on me."

"No," I said placidly. "My mother saw to that."

But my calmness was only outward. Inside me was the painful remembrance of my little mother's reason for her undue strictness, my father's desertion of her for her closest friend when I was four years old.

He had found out his tragic mistake in weeks, but she had disappeared, taking me with her, and though he searched for years he never found her. But, after her death, and my subsequent marriage, the "Quester of Broadway," as he had been dubbed, discovered me by my resemblance to my mother, and because of her deathbed injunction to me, I forgave the long past and bitterly repented wrong, and tried to make up to him for his long, and remorseful loneliness.

I think I have succeeded, but I never like to think of that old time, and I switched the conversation quickly.

"The two surprises, Faith, that you are to know today are very different," I said. "One you won't like at all, the other you will love. Which one do you want to hear first?"

NEW

roost paint for poultry lice

Not just a different product—a new product. Its basic active ingredient is new. There are six reasons why this Dr. Hess research-tested product is superior to even the better grades of old-style roost paints:

1. Single application effective. 2. Has longer life: 3. Gives residual action. 4. Spreads quickly. 5. Works with less irritation. 6. Stable at high temperature. This new product is appropriately called SIX.

SIX costs only half as much. It comes in handy spout-type can, for easy roost application. SIX vaporizes and kills lice while the birds are roosting. SIX is also effective as a spray for killing mites.

Buy SIX. Try SIX. Remember its economy ($1.25 for 500-bird size). Remember it's more efficient than nicotine roost paints.

YOU'RE only doing what comes naturally if you boast just a little when a brand-new automobile comes into your life.

That being so, why not do the job up brown — and make sure your future holds some things that are really worth bragging about?

Things, for instance, as far out front as the styling you see here — bright and fresh as tomorrow morning and just as sure a herald of what's in the wind.

Things like Fireball power, eight cylinders big, that puts wings on your going and zoom into every cross-country run.

Things like the comfort of three-person seats, and the good solid steadiness that only enough road-weight can give you.

Things like Safety-Ride rims that give you the softness of 25-lb. tire pressures, yet mean firmness and control in tight spots and sure, positive traction all the time.

Things like four coil springs, one on each wheel, that put a cushion over every bump and make front-seat and back-seat rides equally soft and buoyant.

Things like handling that is light as your wife's tender touch, a gas treadle that needs only a hint to give action, brakes with a bulldog's bite and stubborn grip.

Things, in short, such as Buick gives you—things you find in such abundant measure only in this trim and tidy traveler.

They're all things that can be yours if you'll see your Buick dealer, with or without a car to trade, and get your firm order in now.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Irwin Jobe and Mrs. Arthur Atkinson was in charge of the program. A two-act play, "Thanksgiving Time at Plymouth," was presented by the sixth grade with Irene Crider, Norma Call, Patty Butler, Beverly Green, Ruth Butcher, Barbara Cornette, Mary Anna Whaley, John McElroy, Mickey Alex, Leslie Irey, Dan Artz and John Freshour taking part. Also for the program, Mrs. Jobe sang "My Heart Is Thine," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James Bishop. The fifth grade was in charge of the social hour.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY GIVEN TWO NIGHTS

Capacity Audiences Fill Central Junior Auditorium.

Capacity audiences filled the Central Junior High school auditorium both Thursday and Friday nights to see the presentations of the Harding High school junior class play, "Shiny Nose," a comedy in three acts.

Marion O. Chase, speech teacher at Harding, directed the production. Special music preceding the play and between acts was presented by the Harding High school orchestra, directed by Homer Huffman, instructor of instrumental music in the city schools.

The story of the play dealt with Janey, a young college student, preparing for the most important date of her whole life when her parents interfere and decide she's too young to "go steady."

Members of the cast were Betty Parsons, Dorothy Tsumpes, Cecil Brown, Barbara Lee, Roger Andrews, Nancy Nussbaum, Jack Williams, Doug Felt, Marilyn Fields and Eleanor Castanian.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — A man with a bright idea here is making a fine fat living. He says he may sway $1,000,000 a year. He says it's by making other people pay him for the privilege of selling their products to gigantic audiences. All he gives him-self is advice.

The man is George Kamen, a 41-year-old "specialist in ideas" who got his training as a European commercial artist to Walt Disney cartoon fame.

BOYLE

Just before the outbreak of war he made a trip to Hitler to sell an important idea. He says he succeeded in selling it over there, and Kamen returned here to be covered the radio field.

He went to work for "The Quiz Kids" selling manufacturers the rights to ideas tied in with the "Quiz Kids" label.

But his real bonanza came with the birth of the "Queen for a Day" network program in 1945. This is one of those afternoon Cinderella shows designed to pep up housewives who are worn out and depressed from the tears they shed listening to the plight of soap opera heroines on the morning programs.

During "Queen for a Day's" half hour, four women tell the microphone—and several million listeners—what they would like most to do or to have. A feminine jury weeds out two entrants and the audience picks by applause the winner from the two remaining.

TO KAMEN FELL the task of finding for the lucky lady the thing she asked or to help her do whatever she wished. He does a similar job on another program now, "Heart's Desire."

One lady wanted to barber the head of the chairman of the state barber license commission, another merely wanted a date with a man who lived down the block from her. Others wanted to throw a brick through a plate-glass store window, take a bath in perfume, hold a party for 25 orphans, direct traffic in Times Square, walk barefooted down Hollywood boulevard, or kiss 50 returning servicemen.

One asked for and got a small airplane. But usually they desire first or second honeymoon trips (with or without husbands) or fine clothing for themselves or members of their families. The two firms sponsoring the program and the women who paid admission to see it footed the bills for the 24-hour queens.

THEN KAMEN THOUGHT up the idea of letting manufacturers contribute further to the lady's happiness by donating washing machines, refrigerators, diamonds, coffee brewers, furs—in exchange for a mention of the firm's product on the air and $50.

This made the "queen" happy, the manufacturer happy and Kamen happy—because he got the $50, or a big chunk of it. As the program now gives away 40 to 50 products a week, that comes to a lot of $50 bills in a year.

Kamen has 11 assistants to help him fill the one-day queen's major wish.

"The secret of our business lies in establishing contacts," he said. "There is hardly anything they can ask we can't get."

HIS ORGANIZATION even found a husband for one woman, and has flopped only once. An extremely small woman who said she never in her life had been able to find stockings her size asked for new nylons. But it was during the war and Kamen found it impossible to have some specially made.

He arranged to build an extra room in one lady's house but now he lives in one constant dread:

"Some winner might ask me to find her a new apartment," he shuddered.

15 STUDENTS FROM AREA IN BANDS AT OHIO STATE

Eight Marion Ohio State university students and seven others from surrounding communities are among the more than 260 university students who are now participating in four different bands at Ohio State, according to a report received from the university, made by Professor Manley R. Whitcomb, director of the university's band program.

The concert band, the marching band, the regimental band and the activities band now constitute leisure time activities for hundreds of students on the campus and require a regular staff to supervise their activities.

Those from Marion in the band work are William Burton, Verne Day, Kenneth Dutt, Glenn Johnson, Sanford Lane, Warren McFadden, Richard Smith, and Glenn Wrenn.

Others from surrounding cities include Richard Davis of Kenton, Robert Harvey of Radnor, Ray Malone of Galion, Thomas Reber of Upper Sandusky, Charles Swink and Alan Williams of Marysville, and Clyde Wilson of Delaware.

MRS. McELHANEY HOSTESS TO WOMAN'S BIBLE CLASS

Mrs. O. W. McElhaney of 150 Franconia avenue was hostess for a meeting of the Woman's Bible class of Wesley Methodist church, Thursday night. Mrs. Cora Daymude, president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with group singing and devotions by Mrs. McElhaney, chaplain. The scripture was by Miss Jean Lattimore and prayer by Mrs. Dora Coffee.

Mrs. Hannah Clark was in charge of a program hour which included readings by Mrs. Fred Upton, Mrs. Beth Monk and Mrs. Electa Wolbert and a vocal duet, "Alone With God," by Mrs. Edith Bush and Mrs. Effie McCrery. Miss Lattimore was in charge of a contest won by Mrs. Bush.

Mrs. Ola Lauderbeck was an associate hostess and assisting during the social hour were Mrs. Foster Lattimore and Miss Jean Lattimore. Mrs. Delbert Wolf was a guest.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON — THIS was the week that flying saucers flew, and brickbats, too, and I don't mean hot words.

Some of the OPA's experts pussy-footed back to town, just in case; the senate war investigating committee considered a case of illicit love, the capital police department started arresting Santa Clauses wholesale, and Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho put up his transcontinental horses for sale.

Young John Roosevelt announced that he was about to open a ladies' dress shoppe in Los Angeles. A new bug juice, called thiapos and said to be deadlier than DDT, was developed. John Taber, the congressman from New York, said he still found too many federal clerks loafing on the job and just wait until their bosses asked him for more money. "Haw," he added.

OTHMAN

The agriculture department, which bought up 100,000,000 bushels of potatoes during the last two years, called off its spud purchasing scheme because the price of same was high enough now to suit everybody except the ultimate consumer. The house post-office committee was considering a slight inflation in the price of postage stamps.

It was one of those weeks, all right, and now let's consider those brickbats. President Truman got one, but he didn't mention it. All he said was that he'd hired a new veterans administrator and that next Thursday would be Thanksgiving. His brickbat he ignored.

I never would have known about it if William H. Mattox of Sacramento, Calif., president of the Landlords of America, hadn't sent me one, too. To the President, the senate, the house of representatives, the housing expediter and to me came individually-wrapped pieces of brick. Mattox wrote that the Landlords of America were being forced out of business by higher taxes, cost-ler coal, and continued rent control.

"HENCE THE SMALL landlord is mailing you all, piece by piece, our rental housing. Enclosed herein is one brick for a starter."

I don't know about the President, whose house at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue seems at long last to be in tip-top condition, but I appreciate my first free brick. I can use it and any other building material the Landlords of America care to send along. You got any spare cookstoves, hey, Mr. Mattox?

The local Santa Clauses are being hauled to the clink for waylaying moppets on the streets and persuading their mothers to have their pictures taken with old Kris Kringle. Bennie Meyers, the major general who made love to another man's wife, gave the army a heart attack by admitting it before the senate; no general's ever acknowledged a thing like that before.

SEN. TAYLOR, THE HORSE dealer, said his nags for sale were the ones he almost rode across the continent in his campaign for continued peace around the world. He said they were gentle beasts, as befitted equine peace envoys.

Nobody seemed to think that congress would go along with the President on renewal of price controls and maybe even red tokens for meat, but a number of the late OPA's master minds showed up for conferences. Charlie Luckman, the soap maker who tried to change the eating habits of the nation, at least on Tuesdays and Thursdays, went back to the suds business. He said he believed he'd done some good, he hoped.

And that, I guess, takes care of the week, except for the shock suffered by Mrs. Ruth Spangler, who lives near the capitol. She said it was not, either, a blast of hot air she saw floating by her window, but a flying saucer. About the size of a tub. What kind of tub Mrs. S. did not say. I've got an idea, but you don't catch me putting words in a lady's mouth.

"The Doughboys' General"

DESIGNATION of Gen. Omar N. Bradley as chief of staff to succeed Dwight D. Eisenhower climaxes a long Army career for the man who in World War II came to be known as "the doughboys' general." Commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry 32 years ago, Bradley always has been an infantryman at heart. In his years of association with the infantry school, he was a leader in developing the modern technique of the Army's basic combat arm.

Bradley has been a popular leader and one able to command respect and discipline without excessive doses of military pomp and circumstance. Like the late Gen. Stilwell, he held the respect of his wartime subordinates because they knew he knew his business. They knew he was a good soldier. He should be a good chief of staff.

As to Gen. Meyers

THE most needful thing to remember as the dreary, sordid story of manipulations directed by Bennett E. Meyers, retired general of Army Air Forces, is revealed by the senate war investigating committee is this:

The manipulator was not a civilian taking advantage of the hustle-bustle of wartime to make financial hay while the war boom shone. He was not a war profiteer in the ordinary pattern, but a highly placed individual in the war department.

He was responsible for his conduct to the secretary of the war department, to his superiors in the procurement division—and beyond them to the commander-in-chief of the United States. The senate war investigating committee is making no point of saying so, but the conclusion is inescapable that the general's associates either knew or should have known that he was involved in questionable activities. The fact it has taken a congressional investigation to bring his activities to light is a tribute to the importance of such investigations—but a kick in the shins for the war department, the department of justice and whatever other agencies of government are charged with responsibility for public protection.

He Choked on a Wishbone

CHARLES LUCKMAN, whom the headline writers, with customary economy of letters called a "food czar," is returning to private business, his czaring days over after less than two months in Washington.

Mr. Luckman choked on a wishbone when he endeavored to put across poultryless Thursdays and never since has been quite the same. On the surface, poultryless Thursdays appeared to be a good idea, but they were fraught with more complications than are likely to come up in a lifetime of selling soap.

Mr. Luckman's responsibilities now go to regular government agencies. Charged with the principal burden will be the agriculture department, which seems the ideal agency to handle such a program.

The dethroned food czar may take this thought with him back to private life: he is not the first big wheel to roll over a rocky road in Washington, and he won't be the last.

Take It Easy, Gentlemen

FEDERAL JUDGE PAUL JONES advises landlords not to boost rents pending outcome of the appeal that will be taken on his ruling that a Cleveland apartment house owner has the right to boost rents as much as 60 per cent because the housing and rent act of 1947 is unconstitutional.

Judge Jones may realize what spokesmen for property owners have not realized so far—that rent control is the biggest chunk of political dynamite still available to the Truman administration and its cronies. The presidential campaign of 1948 may depend on the wisdom with which it's handled by property owners in the next 11 months.

The law that continued wartime rent control expires next Feb. 29. The lease-boost agreements permitted under the law expire Dec. 31, 1948. Any sudden or seemingly cynical move to deliver the nation's renters into the hands of landlords between now and election day next November might be the means of handing control of the country to Mr. Truman and his oddly assorted political cronies for four more years. The legalities of the situation are relatively unimportant, except to persons who think in terms of legalities.

Spokesmen for property owners (who misrepresent owners as having nothing on their minds but higher rent) played into Mr. Truman's hands last spring by their fight to declare open season on tenants; Mr. Truman made shrewd political use of their position by demanding a congressional investigation of the "real estate lobby." They are in danger of repeating their mistake—of giving their critics another chance to see that they are placing property rights above human rights.

"Ark," which means a box or chest, is used in the English Bible to translate two different Hebrew words: the vessel Noah embarked upon, and the coffin in which Joseph's body was preserved.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Not the Same as in Roosevelt's Day.

IT is one thing for the President to make a proposal; it is quite another for congress to accept it. Mr. Roosevelt had a congress of his own for much of his presidential career. He introduced what he called "must legislation and his measures were rushed through, often without even being read.

Today it is altogether a different story. Both the senate and the house have Republican majorities and all investigating committees are chaired by Republicans. Therefore what the President proposed, he will not get through. Although it is likely that stop-gap financial aid to Europe and China will be passed before Christmas, few parts of the President's 10-point program will come out of the committee by then; most of it will never come out of committee while this congress is in session. Such measures as limitations upon private credit and the continuation of control of rents may receive favorable action, but the restoration of OPA in any form seems out of question.

SOKOLSKY

Senator Taft, who speaks not only for himself but for his party as chairman of the Republican policy committee, answered Mr. Truman on OPA and such measures in advance of the President's message to congress. He said:

"... The President himself had removed nearly all price control before the Republicans took over on Jan. 1 of this year, although he could have continued it in many fields until July 1, 1947. Up to June there was reasonable belief that prices and wages had reached point of stabilization—until the failure of the corn crop, the failure of European crops, and the tremendous effect of a greatly expanded export demand. Since congress adjourned prices have resumed their rise, particularly in the agricultural field. I fully agree with the President that the situation is a serious one for many families in this country and that definite changes in government policy are called for, most of them executive rather than legislative."

Believe No More Needed

The Republicans hold that the President possesses powers which he will not use, such as curbs on exports and the control of the issuance of currency, both of which are major factors in the current inflation. The failure of the President fully to use delegated authority does not encourage the delegation of a additional authority. In fact, rather than giving him what Mr. Truman himself called the "police state," the Republicans are likely to investigate the use of delegated powers, particularly in relationship to government hoarding of food while requesting the public not to make purchases as though there were a shortage.

Taft makes the point, more politely of course, that since Bretton Woods, the American people were lied to by the administration, which overdramatized each request for funds and overpromised its probable accomplishment. At the time that the International bank and International fund were organized at the cost of $6,000,000,000 to the American taxpayer, Taft says, "... We were told by the treasury department loans to Great Britain would be wholly unnecessary. As I said at that time, the fund was utterly unsuited to the problems of the world at that time. It is now only serving the purpose of distributing a few billion dollars around the world without reference to merit or to need. These dollars are coming back to the United States to force our prices up.

Situation in Britain

"In spite of the treasury dement we were soon faced with a four billion dollar British loan. Again we were told it was necessary to save the world and would surely do so. Britain itself did not require so much for exports from the United States, but the loan was to make sterling a medium of world exchange and reestablish world trade. Today the loan is nearly gone and the problems of Britain are apparently as great as they were when it was granted."

The Republicans feel that the overdramatization of issues must stop. They will not be rushed. They will pay not the slightest attention to the irrational propaganda of the Stimson committee. They will investigate, scurtinize, analyze and legislate slowly and with as much wisdom as they and their Democratic allies can bring to bear on the subject. As for the long-term Marshal plan—it is a long way off.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

Less Job Security Than The Mesdames Manville

The coach of an Oklahoma college has been hung in effigy by the alumni.

Not only that, but one gathers if he doesn't win today, they're going to hang him in person.

This is the earliest open season on coaches in the history of football.

The alumni always have the feathers ready, of course, but they usually wait until after the final game before they heat the tar.

Yes sir, hell hath no fury like an Old Grad humiliated. That's why, in coaching circles, there is a saying: It matters not whether you win or lose how well can you pacify the alumni?

Here and there over the country a cry is going up to give football back to the students. At least one group would be better satisfied if they'd just give it back to the coaches.

Universal Thanksgiving

By Frank Tripp

NEXT week's holiday appeals to people in many different ways. Its name is plain enough to make it reverently understood—but it isn't. Too many make it just another day off.

It would be revealing to know how many will hesitate for so much as a minute on Thursday to give thanks for blessings which are theirs.

Thanksgiving is our only holiday that all men could share. Disregard its history, forget the hardship, devotion and romance of its American background and it becomes the most universally possible holiday idea in existence. There is no other day observed by Americans in which all of the people of the world could consistently join.

TRIPP

The nearest possibility might be New Years but immediately complications begin to arise. Of some two and a quarter billion people in the world only about one fourth of them write '1947" with more than numerical significance.

Little of the world quarrels with the calendar which makes this the year 1947 and civilization conforms its movements to our methods of reckoning time. Still only one man in four around the globe can soulfully say "the year of our Lord, 1947." Because it is not the year of everybody's Lord, nor the beginning of every man's year.

Memorial day is distinctly an American institution. Though other peoples have days like it, they cannot unite on common ground.

Independence day is exclusively our day. Not even can cousins of the Pilgrims who founded Thanksgiving join with us to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Labor day, like next Thursday, is another arbitrary celebration, as American as the Rocky Mountains. Other countries could not have one with the meaning of ours.

Christmas is the holy day of the same one-fourth who can write "the year of our Lord" and mean it. It enjoys almost universal respect — but some places for only cold, commercial reasons.

I shall never forget the pile upon pile of boxes of celluloid images of Jesus which I saw in a Japanese factory. And was told by the Buddhist manufacturer, "These are all waste. We didn't get the thorns sharp enough."

Kriss Kringle is not a universal saint of childhood. Even among kiddies who watch for him he takes on quite different forms. The devouts who created our Thanksgiving didn't know today's Santa Claus. Old Saint Nick, as our children love him, is an American invention, almost as modern as the Christmas card.

As we search for a common ground upon which to inspire worldwide human reaction, why hasn't someone thought of Thanksgiving?

Paradoxical as it sounds, gratitude in some form, though often faint, comes pretty near being as universal as life itself. It extends to the animals we have learned to understand.

It doesn't seem that way to us who give so much. Because when America gives we do not impress the recipient as having sacrificed anything in the giving. Malcontents have told him that we are only sharing something that is his due.

But did you ever see his face when one in his own plight gave him the smallest, simplest thing? I have; and yearned to enjoy the gratitude which he expressed. It is the gift which deprives the giver that makes the human heart respond.

Oh, when shall we come to know that people everywhere would be so much alike if we could silence those who deceive and exploit them to our undoing?

In spite of all the want and misery that exist, there could be a worldwide Thanksgiving day. For the lowest beggar in Calcutta's streets knows some feeling of gratitude—and has his own god to thank.

Daily Bible Thought

Many fair weather friends are conspicuously absent when they are needed. A friend in time of need is a friend indeed: "Which of these three proved neighbor to him that fell among the robbers."—Luke 10.36.

Time Calls the Tune

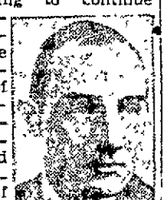
BERLIN

EVERY responsible American and British official here shares the fervent conviction that after the failure of the London conference, urgent steps must be taken to form a provisional government in western Germany. These are the practical men dealing with the practical situation. Their opinion deserves respect in any case. Their arguments, moreover, appear to be irrefutable by any realistic test.

They say first that it is vain and time-wasting to continue seeking or hoping for agreement with the Soviets. The Soviet control of eastern Germany is squarely based on ruthless terror, and has the total exploitation of eastern Germany, both political and economic, as its purpose. For the present, the Soviets can not conceivably be persuaded to start afresh, with wholly new methods and purposes. Therefore even General Lucius D. Clay, whose highest ambition on coming to Germany was to achieve agreement with the Soviets, now frankly feels that there is no hope.



ALSOP

In the second place, the mere passage of time is pressing these Americans and Britishers who have the task of administering the most important part of the old German state. Their broad problem is neatly summed up in the currency issue. All four zones of Germany still use reichsmarks printed by the Allies as their currency. But the currency is on the verge of losing all value, except as a sort of official scrip for buying official rations.

Went the Limit

A large part of the trouble has been caused by the Soviets. They were negligently given dies to print reichsmarks by our treasury. They have printed uncounted billions, to pay their troops, to "buy" industries for Soviet account, and to meet all other occupation charges. They have consistently refused to agree to Germany-wide currency reform. A stage of acute danger has now been reached. If the valueless reichsmarks are not soon replaced with money having some value, there is likelihood of a general catastrophe. There is also the certainty that the effort to rebuild Germany's economic life will fail. Therefore the task of currency reform must begin at once, and begin separately in the Anglo-American and French zones.

Issuance of a separate currency for the Anglo-American and French zones will of course be practically equivalent to the division of Germany into wholly separate political entities. But this is not the only way in which time presses.

There are no fully responsible governmental authorities in western Germany today. The economic council of the Anglo-American zones and the various land governments can make decisions. But being known to be impermanent, they can not fully enforce their will. Thus far, the rationing system has continued to assure the great majority of Germans slender subsistence. But leaks in the dyke, little everywhere and some big as in the Ruhr, long ago began to appear.

In short, the rationing system must be quickly sustained and strengthened, as must the whole administrative machine by which Germany will be rebuilt.

Urgent Needs

But the Western powers can not adopt the blood-stained methods of the police state to carry out their decisions in Germany. The job can only be done, in the last analysis, by the Germans themselves. And this requires a still further step. It is now urgent not only to give the Germans of the west a currency of some value. It is equally urgent to give them a genuinely representative provisional government, which the German people can hold responsible for future failures. The alternative is administrative collapse.

From such political realities as these, there is no escape except into theory. In fact, the remaining open question is not whether another stalemate in London will be the sign for a radical reorganization of western Germany. The question still open is whether the French will join with the British and Americans in setting up this new western Germany which will allow the Germans to contribute to their own salvation.

It is to be expected that the extremists among the French will bitterly dislike the whole business. For two years, they have been demanding a divided Germany. They have been urging a form of German federalism as decentralized and as unworkable as the American Continental Congress. They have been deaf to the argument that an unworkable German government would fall, that political and social poisons would be generated by this government failure, and that a German drive for national redemption on the old pattern would then result. Now, however, that a divided Germany is actually in prospect, they have hastily changed their song.

Advocate "Bankruptcy"

When advocating federalism, they said nothing of the natural German impulse towards national unity. But now they talk of nothing but the danger that a divided Germany will fly together around the nucleus of Berlin. Therefore they urge a policy of bankruptcy—indefinite prolongation of the present hopeless mess, with the certainty of ultimate collapse of administration thereby produced. These men would be less important, if it were not for the signs that General de Gaulle adheres to their view.

There always are a few errands to do, such as going to the place where they cover buttons and picking up two dozen buttons left there in the name of Mrs. H. Stopping by the bank to get a fresh supply of checks; calling the shoe store to see if anything suitable for Junior, Size 10, has come in yet; leaving the envelope with the information for Mrs. Whoopsedazie at the home of Mrs Elmer V. Bringing home a spool of Clark's white cotton thread No. 60; remembering a bottle of fountain pen ink; picking up a bottle of mucilage somewhere; inquiring about the health of Mr. Guck II at the home of Mrs. Guck III because the old man has been under the weather; looking up the date of the wedding of Floosie McGinty and the Elfantine boy;

Paying the classified advertising bill for the people down the street, who just happened to remember that it was convenient to have an employe of the newspaper handy; ask about casters for the bed that won't be so hard on the carpet; go a mile out of the way to bring home three pints of ice cream;

Pick up two pairs of shoes left at the repair shop and remember to get some extra strings; call the telephone company and explain the trouble about being unable to place an outside call; leave the dry cleaning and report the loss of a fabric belt off a tan-colored dress, also the shrinkage of a pink jersey garment that had been cleaned several times before without any mishap;

Try to find some nice writing paper; don't forget whose birthday is only three days away; buy a roll of film for the camera; inquire about spare parts for the coaster brake on Junior's bicycle; drop off three books at the library and pay the fines due on them; write a letter to the relatives inviting them to come to dinner a week from next Sunday; bring home a dollar's worth of stamps; a can of lubricating oil; half a dozen light bulbs; a new cord for the lamp; a bottle of goo for the fingernails (try to get Lady Macbeth); a new toothbrush; a bottle of rubbing alcohol—oh yes, and the latest issue of Zipp—The Magazine for Busy People.

UNION SERVICE TO AID EUROPE

Relief Theme Injected Into Thanksgiving Worship; Shoe Donations Sought.

Devoted this year to the cause of overseas relief, the union service on Thanksgiving eve in First Presbyterian church will have as guest speaker Rev. James C. Flint, official for Church World Service, a cooperative overseas relief organization. He returned to this country recently after a year of service in relief work abroad. In line with the central idea of the service, those who plan to attend have been requested by the social action committee of the Marion County Council of Churches to take to the church pairs of shoes for distribution to the needy in war-torn lands. The goal is 1,000 pairs. Each year the union service is sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial association.

Former Pastor

Rev. Flint is a former pastor in the Congregation church after graduation from college and theological seminary, having served churches at Portland, Me., and Madison, Wis. In 1939, he was appointed as field worker with Church World Service, and shortly afterward, went with a special commission to Germany which had been invited there by General Clay to study welfare needs. Other countries which he visited include Austria, Belgium, the British Isles, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Holland, Norway, Switzerland and Sweden.

His message here will reflect his observations of the "tragic evidences of human want and misery" found there, and his conclusions as to the needed "realistic appraisal of the task and our part in it (which) will eventually lead us to the fresh conviction that the old virtue of Christian charity has a tremendous modern day importance" as this applies to the Thanksgiving season.

Modern Picture

Also on the program will be a motion picture made recently depicting the needs overseas, "This Road We Walk." It has been suggested that those who wish to give shoes for their relief project who cannot attend the union service, take them to their own church tomorrow, or call 2019, Central Christian church office, Tuesday or Wednesday morning to have them called for. The shoes should be clean, in useable condition, and tied in pairs, Rev. Eldred Johnston of the social action committee stated.

Churches which have announced participation in the union service include Central Christian, Salem Evangelical and Reformed, St. Paul English Lutheran, Calvary Evangelical United Brethren.

Individual churches which have announced special Thanksgiving eve services for their congregations include Emanuel Lutheran, Lee Street Presbyterian, and Oakland Evangelical United Brethren.

M.C.Y.M. Service

John E. Dolibois, who was an official interpreter at the Nazi criminal trials in Nurenberg will be speaker for the Thanksgiving dinner meeting of the Marion Christian Youth movement at 6 p. m. at the Y.M.C.A. There will be fellowship singing and special music, it was announced. The M.C.Y.M. is the youth division of the Marion County Council of Churches, of which James Rea is president. Miss Virginia Howard is in charge of tickets.

News of the Churches

Sunday Services Will Launch Thanksgiving Week in Marion

Thanksgiving week will open for Marion congregations tomorrow with special sermons at church services of worship. Some churches will have special speakers at either morning or evening services, and others have scheduled thankoffering services.

Out-of-town speakers will be heard at two morning thankoffering services and at an evening worship and thankoffering service, while featured speaker at the service in a fourth church will be the wife of the pastor. These thankoffering events are sponsored by women's organizations of the churches. Members of the organizations will take part in various ways in the services, including presentation of specail music.

A special service of Thanksgiving at another church tomorrow morning will be featured by a note burning ceremony and a service of recognition honoring those from the church who were in national service during the war.

Thankoffering Services

Two Evangelical and Reformed churches here will have thankoffering services tomorrow morning, with guest speakers. Women's Guild of First Evangelical and Reformed church will sponsor the morning worship and thankoffering service, with Mrs. Sylvester Hurr, a member leader of worship Mrs. D. A. Bode of New Knoxville, president of the Northwest Ohio synod Women's Guild, will speak. The subject will be "Our Thankoffering."

Speaker at the public thankoffering service of the Salem church of Women's Guild in the morning will be Mrs. Utz of New Washington. Children of the fifth and sixth grades of Glenwood school will present a Thanksgiving service at the Senior Young people's meeting at 7 p. m.

Missionary Speaker

A guest missionary speaker at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church tomorrow night, Mrs. Raymond Heter of Bellevue, will speak on "The Challenge of Thanksgiving." This evening worship and thankoffering service will be sponsored by the Christian Service Guild of the church.

The service will open with prelude, "Exultate Deo," Lacey, by the organist, Mrs. J. W. Baker. Call to worship will be by Miss Maxine Good, followed by hymn; responsive Scripture led by Mrs. William J. Veness; prayer, Miss Marie Stull; hymn; presentation of thankoffering, Miss Doris Brading; offertory; "In the Night," Torjussen; special music, "The Love of God," Miss Marguerite Price and Mrs. Hazel Price on electric Hawaiian guitars, and Miss Betty Plantz, soloist; message, closing prayer and postlude.

St. Paul Note Burning

A Thanksgiving service "for special blessings" will be held at St. Paul Lutheran church, Bellefontaine avenue and Windsor streets, tomorrow at 10:45 a. m. The congregation, organized in 1913, is coming to self-support in 1948, with the membership more than doubled in the last three years, Dr. Henry Schaeffer, pastor, explained. Notes issued in 1931 to clear off a church debt will be burned at the service. Those taking part in the note burning ceremony will be Misses Geneva Bell and Sarah Bell, Mr and Mrs. Paul Knauss, Mrs. Carl Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McEvoy, Mrs. Fred S. Romine, and Mrs. Edward Rudolph.

An additional reason for thanksgiving, the pastor stated, is the fact that "none of the 30 servicemen of the congregation have been lost in the service of our country." A service of recognition in honor of the following servicemen is to be a part of tomorrow's program: Clyde Ambrose, John Bammer, Harold Carder Jr., Richard Cochrun, John Craner, Myron Ferry, Harold Fuller, Richard Gruver, William Hoffman, Paul Kline, Clifford Lester, Paul Lindsey, Eugene Maynard, Robert Maynard.

Lawrence McClure, John McClure, Robert Melby, James Melby, Robert Messenger, Lowell O'Dowd, Frank Pryor, Herbert Sellers, John Seckel, Gerald Seckel, Richard Shank, Frederick Shatzinger, Theodore Snyder, Paul Swartz, Keith Tron, and Elwood Woodling.

Student To Preach

In the absence of Rev. R. W. Faulkner, the morning worship service at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church tomorrow will be in charge of Fred Dutt. Edwin Endicott, a member of the church preparing for the ministry at Otterbein college, Westerville, will speak. Rev. Faulkner is conducting revival series at the Westgate Evangelical United Brethren church in Columbus. The meetings there will close tomorrow night. Plans are being made to hold the annual congregational meeting and election Tuesday night. Officers of the Sunday school, class leaders and a trustee are to be elected. Annual statement by the trustees will be presented, and Rev. Faulkner will tell of a National Christian Teaching mission plan.

Services To Close

Christian Fellowship week at Prospect Street Methodist church will be brought to a close with services tomorrow morning and evening. At the morning worship hour Mrs. Irene Ihde of Paterson, N. J., the special speaker, will use as her subject, "Christ and Peace." For the evening service, she will dramatize "The Robe" by Lloyd C. Douglas. The special week of meetings opened last Sunday. During the week in her messages here, the thoughts which she stressed particularly were on prayer, "the greatest unused force in the world," indifference, the greatest sin, "failure to seek forgiveness from God," and she dramatized messages on the consequences of sin. During candlelight consecration services she sang appropriate hymns.

Trinity Revival

Revival services being held at the Trinity Baptist church each night during the past week will continue through next week and come to a close Sunday night, Nov. 30. The pastor-evangelist, Rev. H. S. Wilson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Akron will preach Sunday morning on the topic: "Certain Notes for an Uncertain Age," and on Sunday night, "The Able Christ." The congregation of the Wyandot Baptist church will attend the service Sunday night and Rev. C. R. Mathews, pastor of that church, will administer the rite of baptism. Candidates for membership in the Trinity church by baptism will also be baptized at this service by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Holloway.

The musical program of the revival is being conducted by Rev. Robert A. Maugans, pastor of the Fite Memorial Baptist church. A special musical feature scheduled for Sunday night will be a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Donaugh. On Monday night there will be a series of choral numbers by the Northside Mothersingers under the direction of Mrs. George Wingett, and a duet by the Faith sisters.

Sermon Topics

CHURCH TO MARK 50TH ANNIVERSARY

College President Will Preach Sermon at Wesley Sunday.

Dr. Lewis Clinton Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace college, Berea, will preach at the homecoming and 50-year anniversary services at Wesley Methodist church tomorrow. There will be morning and afternoon services.

The event will recall founding of the church and its progress to date. History of the church began in 1897 when a group led by Daniel Uncapher started a mission in a room in the old Leader house on West Center street. The mission grew, and in 1898 the Central Ohio conference sent Rev. E. H. Snow to Marion as pastor of the mission.

Three years after the mission was started a church building was erected at the corner of Olney avenue and West Center street on a lot donated by Edward Huber. This building served the congregation until the year 1922, when the cornerstone of the present church was laid on Olney avenue. There are at present 750 active members with average attendance in Sunday school of nearly 350.

The guest speaker, Dr. Wright, has won distinction as "one of the outstanding preachers in the Methodist church." A special program of music has been arranged. A basket lunch will be served at 12:30, and all members and friends of the church are invited, it was announced.

At 2 p. m. a fellowship hour will be held and greeting from former pastors and absent members will be given. A special feature of the morning service will be the seating by classes of those who have served longest in the church. Those who have been members for 40 years or over will be seated together, also those who have served between 30 and 40 years and those who have served between 20 and 30 years.

It was stated that all members and friends are urged to respond to the call of the Ministerial association, and bring used shoes to this service for overseas relief. The quota of Wesley church is 100 pairs. Dr. Edwin A. Brown, recently assigned to Wesley church, is the present pastor and will be in charge of the morning program.

4TH SCHOOL OF RELIGION SESSION SUNDAY NIGHT

The fourth session of the school of religion of Wesley Methodist church will be held tomorrow night. Dr. Edwin A. Brown, pastor, will speak on "How To Understand Bible Prophecy." D. T. Mills will lead the class in "How To Teach Religion," and Ivan R. Barnhart will be in charge of the class studying "Problems of Marriage and the Home." At present there are 75 enrolled, and it was announced that any others who are interested may attend without charge. Dr. Brown's address will be delivered to the entire group and will be preceded by a half hour of worship and special music.

Thanks-Living

A Sermonette

By REV. J. B. HOLLOWAY

Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

Texts—"What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me?"

THANKSGIVING is more than just a national holiday officially proclaimed by the President of the United States and traditionally observed on the last Thursday in November each year. Its fullest significance cannot be realized by merely closing the schools and places of business for a day and providing a feast of good things to eat at family gatherings throughout the land with much merrymaking. Thanksgiving, in the truest sense, must be a spiritual experience that is vital and meaningful in our lives. It cannot last but for a day and be forgotten for a year. It should be incorporated in our daily living. It would then be "thanks-living."

The Pilgrim Fathers suffered innumerable hardships of which we moderns know very little except as we read the sketchy accounts of them in the history books. Their clothing was generally home made; their tools and equipment were crude; their food supplies were meager, but their spirit was undaunted. Their sense of gratitude to Almighty God for His many blessings to them and for His preserving care over them in the midst of countless dangers caused them to spontaneously rise up and proclaim a day of thanksgiving and praise in recognition of God's goodness to them. It was a spiritual experience for them.

David, the Psalmist of long ago, also passed through some gruelling experiences in his wanderings while trying to escape the cruel hands of his enemies, yet out of that period of his life came some of his sweetest songs. "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me?" was the question he seemed to be constantly asking himself in moments of meditation and solemn reflection. His heart was filled with genuine gratitude to God for the multitude of tender mercies that were extended to him.

"I will take the cup of salvation," he declared, in token of his gratitude for past blessings. Can one show gratitude by taking more of the proffered gifts? Indeed, we can. The guest may declare again and again to the hostess that he appreciates her kindness in extending an invitation to dinner and may compliment her upon her proficiency in the culinary art, but if he declines to partake of the good things set before him she is not at all convinced of his sincerity or the genuineness of his gratitude. We may best show our thankfulness and appreciation by the spirit with which we receive the gift. God lavished His material gifts upon mankind in order to convince men of His great love for them and to offer to them His supreme gift, eternal salvation. Those most thankful to God for His countless blessings are His beloved children who have accepted His free gift of salvation and are living daily a life of thanksgiving and gratitude. In fact, to ignore that supreme gift and refuse to take His Son as the Saviour is to manifest the basest ingratitde for all His blessings which are so freely bestowed upon men.

"I will call upon the name of the Lord" was a further resolution which David made in an effort to prove to God that he was truly grateful for all His benefits. There is nothing which God enjoys more than the fellowship of His children who trust in Him and love Him and invites them to come boldly to His throne and call upon His name. A simple "Thank you, Lord" when we sit down to our daily meals and when any material blessings may come our way will bring us closer to Him and provide an added blessing. Reverently calling upon the Lord in thanksgiving and praise as well as in making our petitions to Him assures Him of our gratefulness and brings its own spiritual blessing.

"I will pay my vows unto the Lord" was a third method the Psalmist elected to use in showing his gratitude for all of God's benefits to him. It is not sufficient to receive and say "thank you" to prove our sincerity, for actions speak louder than words. We owe God such a debt of gratitude we can never fully repay Him, but we can partially discharge that obligation by "living our thanks" in daily service for Him by witnessing and working for the advancement of His kingdom here upon earth.

Whatever our lot may be we need only to "count our blessings" and be convinced of God's infinite goodness to us and then set about to prove the genuineness of our gratitude by a daily process of "thanks-living" through service.

Church Briefs

Miss Dorothy Abel, missionary under appointment to the Philippine mission field, will speak at Second Pilgrim Holiness church tomorrow morning. She served previously in Japan and China a number of years, and is a former schoolmate of Rev. Albert M. Hood, pastor, and Mrs. Hood. This will be her second visit to Marion.

At Lee Street Presbyterian church tomorrow for the evening service, Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins of Columbus will be guest speaker, Rev. George Pake announced.

For a thanksoffering service of Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church tomorrow night, Mrs. H. V. Falor will speak on "World Evangelism."

Rev. H. V. Falor, pastor of Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church, will hold a two-weeks revival at Vanlue beginning tomorrow night. The special meetings there will close Dec. 7.

For worship services of the Church of Christ at Main and Farming streets tomorrow, Harold L. Hill, evangelist, will preach. His subject at the morning service will be "Prayer in Christian Living," and in the evening, "Salvation in the Church." Bible study will precede morning worship.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 23. It will have for the Golden Text: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (II Corinthians 3:18).

BISHOP READY WILL CONFIRM CLASS HERE

Will Celebrate Pontifical Low Mass at Service Sunday.

Bishop Michael J. Ready of Columbus will be the celebrant for a pontifical low mass at 9 a. m. and confirm a class of 250 children and adults at 3 p. m. Sunday in St. Mary Catholic church. The occasion will be his canonical visitation to the parish and at this time he will observe church and parish properties and activities. Because of the pontifical mass at 9 a. m. masses following will be at 11 a. m. and 12 noon instead of the usual hours.

The pastor, Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., will officiate in his capacity as pastor and serving as chaplains to Bishop Ready will be his secretary, Rev. Roland T. Winel of Columbus and Rev. Elmer Boyden, assistant pastor of St. Mary church. The following young men of the parish will assist as minor ministers for the mass and confirmation: Thomas Wagner, mitre bearer; Dan Smith, crosier bearer; Richard Schuler, book bearer; Robert Stuber, candle bearer; Paul Bray, train-bearer; James Moloney, censer bearer; Patrick Bray, cross bearer, and John Murphy and James Stahl, acolytes. Wardens of the church and members of Monsignor Denning Council, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will take part in the processions.

Bishop Ready will deliver a sermon at the 9 o'clock mass and following this there will be absolution for deceased priests in the sanctuary and for the deceased members of the parish in the church proper. A number of visiting clergy will be present for the day's services. Following the confirmation Rev. Spickerman will be host at dinner for Bishop Ready and the visiting priests.

CIRCLE GIVES PROGRAM ON THANKSGIVING THEME

Mrs. Gerald Walker was hostess for a meeting of Circle No. 3 of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, Thursday afternoon at her home on South State street.

Mrs. A. F. Lantzer, leader, opened the meeting with prayer and a reading on the theme of Thanksgiving. For the devotions Mrs. James Walsh read the 13th chapter of First Corinthians and gave a reading on Thanksgiving. The study lesson, "The Night That Knew No Morning," was presented by Mrs. Lantzer. A report on the general aid society meeting completed the program.

Refreshments were served during a social hour with Mrs. Walsh assisting the hostess.

Care of Stucco Houses Made Easy by Prompt Repair of Marred Surface

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Stucco houses derive the name from the fact that they are covered with that material; but there is any number of different frames or backing to which the stucco may be applied. Many houses are made of cement or cinder block, and then stuccoed. Brick houses and tile-walled houses are covered with stucco, and ordinary wood-frame houses use it as an exterior finish. In every case, however, the important thing is to keep the covering solid and free from cracks. Once the weather gets behind the finish, a progressive defect sets up which soon has large areas loosened.

The best manner in which to treat a stucco house, is to watch for cracks in the finish. When these first appear they are easy to take care of. The correct procedure is to brush out or blow out all dust, and then wet both sides and the back of the crack until it is well soaked. Next a paste should be made of a prepared cement patching material, and forced into the crack and troweled off.

At times a stucco wall will develop a complete network of what are termed hair-cracks. This should be treated by an application of paint-like cement and sand, which is brushed thoroughly over the entire affected area. Many owners of stucco houses do this every three or four years as a precaution against trouble.

When large patches of stucco become loose, it is very hard to treat them in any manner other than to break them out until firm edges are established around the defect, wet the back and edges thoroughly, and trowel in a new section. If it is possible to keep this damp for several days so that the moisture in the patching material does not dry out, the repair will be far more satisfactory.

Stucco should be painted only with a paint made for that particular purpose.

The apple, most widely cultivated fruit, is closely related to the pear family.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Odor in House

Q. We have a large house with a concrete porch across the front and partly around the sides. There is a strong odor in the front rooms in damp weather. We have plenty of ventilation. Six windows and a screen door. There is a hole through the porch floor, and a hole on the opposite side through the foundation. A wooden beam on the foundation is rotted in some places. If this is the cause of the odor, could this beam be sprayed with something? The front of the porch cannot be ventilated, due to a large terrace in front of it.

A. The rotted beam should be replaced with sound lumber; very possibly the odor may emanate from this decayed wood. There should be sore ventilation under the porch, which I believe could be managed in some way by a good building contractor. The holes that you speak of evidently are not large enough to allow for a good current of air under the porch. It may be possible that a cat or other animal has found its way into the space and died there. If that is the case, the odor from the animal eventually will disappear. The possibility of leakage in the area of the rotted beam should be looked into.

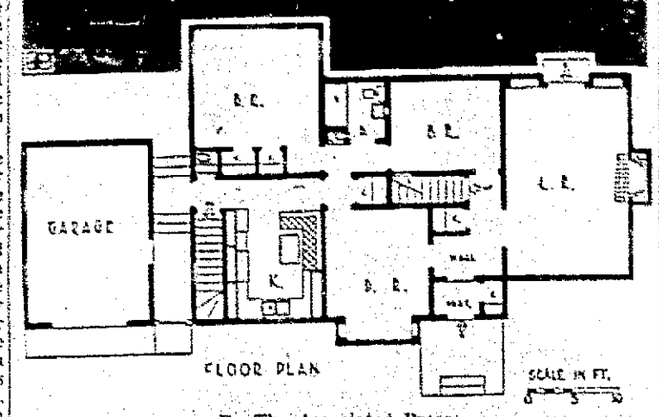
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

The perennially popular Cape Cod cottage takes on the "New Look" in this design No. 715 by E. L. Baker, 1525 West High street, Lima, O. A feature of the plan is a compactly-planned kitchen with dinette corner. This is open to the service hall which leads in from the garage past the cellar steps. Bedrooms are zoned off from the remainder of the house. A vestibule and center hall enhance the layout. The large living room has windows on three sides and a fireplace centered in the outer wall. The house contains 28,000 cubic feet with full basement. Space is provided upstairs for two future bedrooms. The architect points out that the garage may be set farther from the house with an extended breezeway, if lot size permits.

MRS. EVANS HOSTESS TO PRESBYTERIAN CIRCLE

Circle 7 of the First Presbyterian church met Thursday with Mrs. H. F. Evans on Lincoln avenue. Thanksgiving thoughts were given by 20 members in a response to roll call, and guests were Mrs. F. B. Shannon, Mrs. J. B. Ferguson and Mrs. F. J. Freeman of Columbus.

Mrs. R. I. Butterworth, president, presided, and group singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" opened the meeting. A poem "Thanksgiving," and prayer were by Mrs. Butterworth. Mrs. Edwin Robisch gave a report of a recent general aid meeting, and Mrs. C. J. Watrous, Mrs. Frank Edmondson, and Mrs. C. B. Strother were appointed to serve on a nominating committee. Mrs. Z. E. Gunder conducted devotions from the book of Genesis and Mrs. E. P. Magill reviewed a study chapter. A Christmas gift exchange will be held at the next meeting Dec. 18 with Mrs. S. J. Mills on Johnson street.

ESS DEE CLUB PLANS THANKSGIVING DANCE

Final arrangements will be made by the Ess Dee dance club for a Thanksgiving dance to be held Friday night, Nov. 28, at a regular dance tonight in the Legion Dugout. Music for the special dance will be by Glenn Johnson and his orchestra with dancing from 9 to 12. Membership cards will be available tonight. The dance club is sponsored by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion.

ASK SPEEDY ACTION ON EUROPEAN RELIEF

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—The senate foreign relations committee today called for "speedy action" on a measure authorizing $597,000,000 of aid for France, Italy and Austria to defeat the "twin spectres of cold and hunger accompanied by political chaos."

The measure was introduced in the senate Wednesday by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), and Senator Connally (D-Tex), ranking minority member. It had previously been unanimously approved by a 13-0 vote of the committee. Debate on the bill will start Monday.

In a report of its findings, the committee said that:

1. Aid is essential if the three nations are to be able to purchase the fuel, food and other commodities necessary "for the survival of their peoples and their economies during the coming winter.

2. The amount "does not seem excessive."

3. The impact upon the domestic economy would be relatively slight.

As the senate group made public its report, the house committee on foreign affairs continued its closed-door consideration of the emergency program.

The house and senate appropriations committees have yet to draft a bill appropriating the money which the senate measure would authorize.

Couple Have 2nd Set Of Twins in 18 Months

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22—Wilbur Nungesser was dumbfounded and speechless today when nurses told him he was the father of twin boys.

Twins are rare enough but this set is Nungesser's second in 18 months. He and his wife Martha also have three other children.

"She's a great mother," exclaimed Nungesser when he could speak.

"I think it's wonderful," said the happy mother, "everybody can't have twins you know."

MEYERS

force at our command that we were straining every nerve to prepare for and win the war. We thought we had reason to rely on the integrity as well as ability of men entrusted with high responsibility. In this case (of Meyers), our reliance was shared by many others."

Arnold said the Air Force has "never condoned and never will condone such conduct as is indicated by this evidence, regardless of ability, rank or position."

Declares Purpose

Wearing a gray civilian suit and blue shirt, Arnold made plain why he had asked to testify.

He said in firm voice:

"I'm not here to pass upon the innocence or guilt of General Meyers. I am here to defend any of my own actions in connection with this case.

"I am here as the war head of 2,300,000 men who served in the Air Force. I am here because some of them have begun to have an element of doubt as to their leaders. I am here to restore the confidence they had in their leaders and the armed services."

Chairman Ferguson assured Arnold he was "welcome" after the very sordid testimony" the committee has heard about a very small minority of officers.

In his prepared statement submitted to the committee, Gen. Arnold said bluntly:

"On the evidence before you, a high-ranking officer has disgraced his uniform and his rank.

Arnold said he wanted to brand as "absolute falsehoods" testimony by Meyers that, as Arnold put it, Meyers:

Received the approval of Arnold and Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer for his "continued indirect holdings; that he made what he calls verbal arrangements with his superior officers, and that I told him the matter of sale of stocks was one for his own judgment."

"These statements I brand as absolute falsehoods, as does General Stratemeyer," Arnold added.

Meyers had quoted Arnold as saying in connection with disposal of Meyers stock:

"Benny, goddam it, use your own judgment."

"I think it is true that Air Corps officer shaving wide procurement responsibility have refrained as a matter of ethics from such (stock) investments." Arnold told the committee, adding:

"I relied on the word of these officers. Rightly or wrongly, after these reports, I believed that these officers, including General Meyers, were and would continue free of taint of personal financial interest."

Arnold said Meyers' report indicated that he owned aviation stocks which were sold for the most part before Dec. 6, 1940, "and that all were sold before the report" in Feb. 1943.

"It never crossed my mind," Arnold testified, "* * * that any of these reports were filed with the mental reservation regarding stocks in other names or transferred to a wife."

Transferred to Wife

Meyers has told the committee that when he filed his reports he had transferred his stock holdings to his wife and that she had "physical possession" of them.

Arnold said that Meyers suggested to him on one occasion the possibility of making money by buying government bonds on margin. Meyers has said he and his family once cleared $90,000 on such a transaction.

Arnold said he rejected the idea.

"General Meyers came to me one day and asked me if I wanted to make some money," Arnold told the committee. "I said, 'how?'"

He said Meyers explained that he could buy government bonds on margin by putting up $50,000 and make a big profit in a year's time.

"I said 'wait a minute, wait a minute, you're going too fast for me,'" Arnold continued. "I said, 'Have you talked this over with the secretary of the treasury?' He said he had and that Mr. Morgenthau (Henry Morgenthau Jr., then treasury secretary) said, 'There's no legal reason why you shouldn't but I hope you won't.'"

Arnold said he did not go along because he didn't like the idea of the deal and "in the second place, I never had $50,000 in my life."

Tells of Long Acquaintance

In this connection, he told the senators:

"I have known General Meyers for 27 years, and he always had more money than any of his contemporaries. * * * He lived far better as a captain than I could afford to as a brigadier general."

Declaring that in the case of Meyers "we are dealing with an exception" to the general picture in the air force, Arnold said:

"Let it be dealt with by military and civilian agencies with all the severity this sordid evidence warrants. * * * Mistakes are inevitable in big organizations like the Army, Navy and Air Force.

"The services must learn from each error and be ever watchful against repetition.

"Nothing in the career of one man can or should be permitted to take the meaning from the wartime sacrifice and effort of the Air Force men and women, or to harm the future effectiveness of the United States Air Force."

The committee, which has heard a one-time associate of Meyers call the retired general a "snake," pressed its investigation and completed testimony today about Meyers' tangled wartime dealings.

The witness who compared Meyers with a reptile is Bleriot H. Lamarre, former president of the Aviation Electric Company of Dayton, O.—the firm Lamarre says Meyers owned secretly and picked for more than $150,000 in wartime profits.

Meyers, denying he lined his pockets, has testified he set the Lamarres up in business so he could be near Lamarre's wife.

The general said Mrs. Lamarre was his "girl friend" from 1936 to 1940 with her husband's "knowledge, approval and acquiescence."

Lamarre hit back late yesterday. Taking the stand at his own request, the 35-year-old former bookkeeper declared in an even, icy tone.

"It is my sincere hope that this committee will make General Meyers crawl out of this room on his belly like the snake that he is."

He said also:

"When General Meyers came on the stand he took great pains to indicate that he was a man of phenomenal intelligence, that he was of extremely high integrity, and, by deduction, that as an officer in the Army was a gentleman.

"He said he had some chivalry in him and he also said he was going to sink to a new low.

"I don't believe there are words in the English language that could describe the depths to which he has sunk."

Mrs. Lamarre's mother, Mrs. Mildred Readower, let fly at the general, too. In Cincinnati, she said.

"The things General Meyers is saying are lies. He's just saying them to get even because my son-in-law told the truth against him."

Mrs. Readower said her daughter had told her "the general's charges were absolutely untrue," and that "she never was out with him alone in her life."

Meyers, told about this by a reporter, replied that he had no comment.

Advised Gen. Meyers To "Tell All," Says Wife

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Blonde Ila Meyers advised her husband, Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers to "tell all" about his relations with Mrs. Mildred Lamarre, the New York Daily Mirror said today. The article continued:

"Sitting in her hilltop home at Huntington, L. I., the former actress disclosed that the general had put all of his love cards on the table before her last weekend and asked her advice.

"She said that she insisted he tell the committee 'the whole truth regardless of whom it involves.'"

"Mrs. Meyers told her story calmly, appearing ruffled only upon learning that Mrs. Lamarre's husband, Bleriot, had appealed to the senate committee yesterday to 'make Meyers crawl out of this room on his belly like the snake he is.'"

"'When the truth comes out,' Mrs. Meyers retorted heatedly, 'Mr. Lamarre may be the one who crawls out like a snake.'"

Lamarre Back Home Has No Comment

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Nov. 22—Bleriot H. Lamarre flew home today, but declined to comment further on Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers' testimony that Lamarre's wife was the general's "girl friend."

Lamarre, former president of the Aviation Electric company here, arrived by plane before daylight and went immediately to his modest, story-and-a-half home.

He arrived alone, on his trip from Washington.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22 — Bleriot H. Lamarre, one of the central figures in the senate investigation of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, refused to pose for photographers while his plane made a brief stopover at Port Columbus early today.

Lamarre, enroute to Dayton, remained in his seat and airport officials would not allow photographers inside the plane without his consent.

Money, Guns and Rings Stolen from Residence

The home of A. L. Luvisi of 746 South Prospect street was entered by a burglar last night and $11 in money and property, including guns and rings, were stolen, police reported today. The entrance was gained through the rear door. The door either was unlocked or entrance was gained with a skeleton key while the family was away. The missing items reported to police were .32 and .38 caliber revolvers and two women's rings. The upstairs bedroom had been ransacked and drawers in the dresser were opened and clothes thrown over the room, Mr. Luvisi told police.

SIX-MONTH SEARCH ENDS. Object of nationwide search since June, 17-month-old Bernice Henry is joyfully reunited with her mother, Mrs. Leonard Henry of Westfield, Mass., in Key West, Fla., where the child was found abandoned in a rooming house. COURT RULING SOUGHT ON MARYSVILLE ZONING ISSUE

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 2—A final showdown in this city's zoning ordinance mixup was shaping up today, with a common pleas judge from another county now scheduled to rule on whether the ordinance is valid.

Latest developments in the controversy are that council Thursday night instructed the city solicitor to press injunction suits to stop construction of two commercial buildings in residential areas, and thereby obtain a court ruling on the ordinance.

However, Common Pleas Judge R. L. Cameron Friday declined to issue a temporary restraining order against construction of the buildings and asked Chief Justice Carl Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court to assign a judge from another county to the case.

The chief justice has assigned Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor of Kenton to the case and Judge Tudor will be in this city Tuesday morning to hold a hearing on the injunction proceedings.

Prospect Street Church Services To Close Sunday

Mrs. Irene M. Ihde of Paterson, N. J., evangelist and musician, having formerly appeared on the concert stage, conducted another service last night at Prospect Street Methodist church in the series of Christian Fellowship week services. She spoke on the subject "Can God Be All Loving and Omnipotent at the Same Time?"

Services for the week will close Sunday. In the morning, she will speak on "Christ and Peace," and in the evening, Mrs. Ihde will dramatize the great book, "The Robe." Special music has been arranged for both services.

Preceding the service last night, Mrs. Ihde played, on the organ, "The Storm" from the "William Tell" overture by Rossini. During the service, she again gave a musical reading of the poem, "My Lord and I," to music of her own composition, and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Rice, church organist.

Scripture was read by Robert Rice, and special music was by a girls' trio from Waldo composed of Miss Betty Stevens, Miss Jane Moyer and Miss Doris Kaelber. They were accompanied by Mrs. Rice. Their selections were "In a Monastery Garden" and "Ave Maria."

Married Couples Find Talking It Over Pays

By The United Press

ATLANTA, Ga.—This country's high divorce rate has prompted married couples here to form the "Mr. and Mrs. Club," whose purpose is to work out marriage problems by talking them over in public.

Even the lineup of officers is in couple formation. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson are president, and every other office is doubly filled.

The 40 couples who are members range from newlyweds to grandparents. While their discussions center chiefly on a "constructive" approach to marriage problems, they also discuss any other subjects which interest them, including Bible history, world affairs—and spend a fair amount of time in the purely social pastime of eating and talking.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., Nov. 22—Three-year-old Roger Freeman and his 18-month-old sister, Mary Alice, died in flames which damaged their home here last night. A third child, Charlotte Freeman, 4, was rescued by a neighbor, Jesse Allen. Fire Chief Herman Fischer said a coal oil stove explosion started the blaze and the children's mother, Mrs. Thomas Graham, was next door at the time.

POLICE SLAYERS CONVICTED

By The Associated Press

NO. 1 DRAFTEE STILL IN THE ARMY. More than seven years ago, the first number to be drawn in the peacetime draft was 158. Elmer Banks of Lexington, Ky., was the man who held that number, and his name became famous across the nation. The war is long since over and won, but Banks is still in the army. He reenlisted and is shown on Okinawa Island where he is now working as a motor vehicle inspector at a military post.

DRY WORKER GOES TO JAIL FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 22—A 64-year-old field representative of the Anti-Saloon league was in City workhouse today after pleading guilty in police court to driving while under the influence of liquor.

Rev. Howard B. Pilchard drew a three-day sentence and a $50 fine yesterday from Police Judge J. Parker Edwards, who ignored defense pleas the dry worker had been punished sufficiently by the arrest and embarrassment.

In Columbus, S. P. McNaught, director of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, commented: "He will most likely not return."

Pilchard was arrested Nov. 6 after his automobile struck a parked car. His driver's license also was suspended for one year.

SPEEDER FINED $15

John W. Henry Jr., 20, of Kensington Place was fined $15 and costs in municipal court today after he pleaded guilty of charges of speeding. He was arrested by police at 2:12 a. m. today on East Center street.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

BOB HOPE, at right, above, finds himself in plenty of trouble in the new comedy, "Where There's Life," which will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater. Pictured above with Hope are Vera Marshe and William Bendix. Signe Hasso has the leading role opposite Hope.

Bob Hope Stars In Palace Picture

Bob Hope, an outstanding comedian, is seen as a disk jockey who gets mixed up with a lot of wrong people in the new comedy production, "Where There's Life," which is billed to be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Hope's leading lady in the film is Signe Hasso, who shares the spotlight with William Bendix and George Coulouris.

All of Hope's trouble comes about because he is mistaken for the son of the King of Barovia, which country is just about to be taken over by a group of people who have just shot the king. Signe Hasso is cast is a powerful general of the Barovian army who sets out to bring Hope home to the fatherland.

While protecting her future king from the death threats of a terrorist group, she falls in love with him. This further complicates Hope's life, for William Bendix, playing a tough New York cop, is insistent that Bob go through with his promised marriage to Bendix's sitter, played by Vera Marshe.

Wednesday only, appearing on the stage will be George Towne and his orchestra. The screen attraction will be "That's My Man" starring Don Ameche and Catherine McLeod.

A horse racing thriller, "That's My Man" tells of a gambler who has staked personal happiness on a two-year-old horse. The story begins on a rainy day in Christmas week when Joe Grange, played by Don Ameche quits his job and succumbs to a lifelong ambition to own and train a race horse.

Thursday through Saturday a double feature "Red Stallion" and "Riff Raff" will be shown.

"Red Stallion," a drama of a boy's devotion to his horse, features Robert Paige, Noreen Nash and Ted Donaldson.

"Riff Raff," co-starring Pat O'Brien, Walter Slezak and Anne Jeffreys, is a story of greed and intrigue in the Canal Zone. Pat O'Brien has the role of a combination private detective, commission man and general fixer-upper in Panama City, who gets himself into a mess of trouble when he undertakes to find a missing map claimed by opposing adventurers.

Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m., at an all cartoon and coedy show, Dr. Murray Holt, a magician, will appear on the stage presenting a show of novelties in magic.

Saturday night, a midnight sneak preview of one of the surprise comedy hits of the year will be shown.

Davis and Blanchard In Picture at Ohio

"Spirit of West Point," the drama of the lives of two great All Americans, Glenn Davis and Felix "Doc" Blanchard, is now playing through Wednesday at the Ohio theater.

The film has all the thrills of a real game, and the two boys from West Point, playing their first screen roles with ease and personable pride, prove themselves a credit to the Academy on the Hudson.

Primarily, the film is the life story of the boys, singularly and their days together at the Point. Davis and Blanchard, the "Touchdown Twins," are known the nation over for their exceptional ability as football players. "Spirit of West Point" endeavors to paint a true picture of the lives of these kings of the gridiron. The picture shows the thrilling moments they had on the football field, but more than that it stresses the tradition of West Point and the character of its cadets.

Opening Thursday, as the Thanksgiving Day attraction and to run for eight days, will be "Thunder in the Valley" starring Lon McAllister, Peggy Ann Garner and Edmund Gwenn.

SHOWN ABOVE IS a scene from the film, "Spirit of West Point," which tells of the lives of two great All Americans, Glenn Davis and Felix "Doc" Blanchard with the two great football players playing themselves in the picture. It is now playing through Wednesday at the Ohio theater.

Photographed in technicolor, the film is adapted from the book "Bob, Son of Battle," and is the story of a dog. Lon McAllister who is in constant conflict with Gwenn, his drunk and brutal father, leaves home and goes to live with a neighboring sheep rancher, whose daughter, Peggy Ann Garner, falls in love with him. In the meantime, Gwenn manages twice to win the annual sheep round-up with a dog suspected of being a sheep killer. But the climax comes when Gwenn is beaten in the final tournament by a dog, Bob, son of Battle, entered by his son.

"Desert Fury" On Bill at Marion

"Desert Fury," a drama in technicolor starring Lizabeth Scott, John Hodiak and Burt Lancaster, and "Repeat Performance" with Louis Hayward and Joan Leslie and introducing Richard Basehart, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former, photographed against the background of America's desert, is the tale of a notorious mother, a headstrong daughter and the gambler-killer who came between them. The latter is a romantic drama of a woman who wins the chance to relive the most exciting year of her life.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday is the technicolor musical, "Carnival in Costa Rica" and a mystery thriller, "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

The former, starring Dick Haymes, Vera-Ellen, Cesar Romero and Celeste Holm, tells of a young American business man who learns about a new kind of love under the tropical moon. The latter features Phillip Terry and Jacqueline White and is an exciting story of one night at an isolated mountain lodge in midwinter.

Friday and Saturday, the attractions will be two spine-tingling features, "Congorilla" and "Borneo, Land of the Devil-Beast."

"The Jolson Story" Coming to State

The popular technicolor musical, "The Jolson Story," which is based on the life of America's greatest entertainer, Al Jolson, will be the feature attraction at the State theater Sunday through Tuesday.

Starring Larry Parks in the title role, "The Jolson Story" is largely told in music, relating happenings in Jolson's life which finally brought him fame. Starred in the production with Larry Parks are Evelyn Keyes and William Demarest.

Completing the billing will be "Raiders of Red Rock" with Buster Crabbe and Al "Fuzzy" St. John.

Wednesday, the double feature will be "Of Human Bondage" and "The Falcon in San Francisco." The former stars Paul Henreid and Eleanor Parker, and heading the cast in the latter are Tom Conway and Rita Corday.

Another in the series of famous Blondie and Dagwood pictures, "Blondie Knows Best," will be shown Thursday through Saturday. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake play the starring roles. Also playing will be "Ghost Town Renegades" with W. "Lash" Larue and Al "Fuzzy" St. John and three cartoons in color.

Rose Bowl Spotlight On Southern Cal—UCLA Today

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—As of game time today, Michigan was the only expected-to-be designated principal for any of the New Year's day football bowls, but by nightfall bids to post-season contests should be on their way to a half dozen of the nation's major elevens.

With Fritz Crisler's Wolverines the standard-bearers of the Western conference in Pasadena's Rose Bowl regardless of the outcome of today's game with Ohio State at Ann Arbor, the spotlight is on Los Angeles, where Southern California and U.C.L.A. fight it out before 100,000 fans for the honor of representing the Pacific Coast conference.

The undefeated but once-tied Trojans need only to beat or tie the Bruins in their cross-town duel to gain the Tournament of Roses tilt on Jan. 1.

However, the Bruins, defending Pacific Coast conference champions, could throw the conference race into a four-way tie and becloud the Rose Bowl picture by upsetting Southern Cal.

Southern Methodist's all-conquering Mustangs can clinch the Southwest conference championship and a Cotton Bowl berth by whipping Baylor.

A possible Orange or Sugar Bowl bid in addition to the Big Six conference title also is at stake. Kansas and Oklahoma are tied for the lead with the Jayhawkers entertaining Missouri and the Sooners visiting Nebraska. Missouri also is in contention for the pennant.

Other possible Sugar, Orange or cotton bowl bids hinge on the outcome of games played by Southern and Southeastern conference teams.

In the Southern, Duke can wrap up the crown by scoring a victory over Charlie Justice and the North Carolina Tar Heels. Mississippi, Mississippi State and Georgia Tech, all in the running for the Southeast conference flag, have what should be a breather ahead today before their climactic curtain-ringer next week.

State tangles with Mississippi Southern, Tech takes on weak Furman and Mississippi is idle. Next week finds Tech opposing Georgia and the two Delta elevens clashing with each other.

The remaining interest today is focused on Penn State and Notre Dame, who along with Michigan and S.M.U. are the only major teams that boast all-winning records.

Penn State, also a bowl candidate, like Michigan, is gunning for its ninth win and engages lowly Pittsburgh. Notre Dame was expected to have little trouble in making Tulane's Green Wave its eighth consecutive victim.

BUCKEYE-WOLF TILT DRAWS 85,938 FANS

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 22 — Michigan's football steamroller, bidding for its first perfect grid record since 1932, levelled all its guns at underdog Ohio State today as the Big Nine champs played out the string to an anti-climax meeting with a struggling bitter-rival eleven that has won but two of eight games.

Michigan, winner of all its eight games this year and 12 straight since the middle of last season, was a topheavy favorite ranging from 28 to 40 points as the Wolverines closed out their brilliant season with only a Jan. 1 Rose Bowl date with the Pacific Coast conference champ remaining for a dozen talented seniors.

The third capacity crowd of 85,938 fans in Michigan stadium this year was assured weeks ago and a threat of cold, rainy weather had no effect on the gate.

Pro Gridders Draw Fine for Fighting

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22 — Six professional football players who fought during and after the Chicago Bears-Los Angeles Rams game at Los Angeles last Sunday drew punishment today from the National football league.

League Commissioner Bert Bell announced that Bears end Jack Matheson, who was said to have fought with Los Angeles Coaches Bob Snyder and George Trafton after the game, will not be permitted to play against the Pittsburgh Steelers in Chicago tomorrow.

Bell pinned fines of $50 each on Ed Cifers, H. Allan Smith and Ed Springide of the Bears and Mel Bleekeer and Dante Maganli of the Rams for fighting during the game.

Harridge Says League Can't Stop Trades

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 — Will Harridge, president of the American league said last night that the St. Louis Browns "still have a roster of 40 players filed with us" and "there isn't anything the league office or anybody else can do" about the Browns selling off their star players.

"It's strictly the Browns' own affair—they have a perfect right to sell their players as they see fit," added Harridge.

Harridge said that termination of membership in the league can be declared only for failure to field a team at the time and place agreed upon, to play any championship game, unless caused by an unavoidable accident in traveling.

SMITH DRAFTED BY CLASS A COLUMBIA

Hurled No-Hitter Here Against Lima Aug. 31.

Frank Smith who pitched a near perfect no-hit game for the Marion Cubs against Lima here Aug. 31 was drafted from Fayettesville of the Tri-State league by Columbia of the Sally league yesterday, an Associated Press dispatch reports.

Smith started his baseball career here with the Cubs last spring after getting his start near his home in Watertown, N. Y., hurling for his high school nine. He was used only in relief roles until the season was half over when consistently good pitching caused him to be moved up to a starting role by Manager Nelson Burbrink.

In the game with Lima here Aug. 31 Frank did not allow a batter to reach first base until he walked the first man up in the ninth.

This was the only man to get on base as he retired the next three men.

Frank was first claimed by Hutchinson, Kan., but was moved to class B ball after the season closed. The many scouts who watched Smith frequently, had a high opinion of him and when the Chicago organization failed to move him to class A ball he was drafted by the Columbia team which is not a Cub affiliate, but a farm team of the Cincinnati Reds.

Two Ohio boys were also in the draft yesterday. Paul Geyer of Dayton and a pitcher for Appleton of the Wisconsin State league was chosen by Jacksonville, also of the Sally loop. John Mayo of Youngstown who played for Vandergrift of the Mid-Atlantic league last year was drafted by Macon of the Sally.

LaRue Drops Opener, 35-34, to Mt. Victory

LaRue dropped the opening basketball game of the season last night at Mt. Victory, 35-34, when a basket in the last minute by Stanley, Mt. Victory forward, erased a one point LaRue lead.

The LaRue team was playing without the services of Burke Ballinger and Ralph Wilson, two forwards who were out of the lineup with injuries and illness.

Harold Brocklesby, LaRue center who was the game's leading point maker with 13, fouled out with LaRue nine points behind. John Tate, a guard, went to the showers by the foul route when the LaRue team was rallying and still nine points behind, but the substitutes pulled into a lead and then lost.

LaRue will meet the strong Marseilles team tonight on the LaRue floor.

MAY LEAVE MINNESOTA SAYS BERNIE BIERMAN

By The United Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 22—Bernie Bierman became a question mark in Big Nine coaching circles today when he said he did not know if he would be coaching the University of Minnesota football team next year.

There had been some speculation about his future plans after he said last week that he would step out of the coaching job if he thought it would be in the best interests of the team.

Big 9 Rose Bowl Bid To Be Voted Sunday

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 — The formality of officially naming Michigan, the Big Nine champion, as the conference's Rose Bowl choice will be taken tomorrow in a poll of faculty representatives.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson said he had requested the representatives to submit their Rose Bowl selection. His directive asked them to rate three conference teams in order of preference, including consideration of standings and academic and departmental standards.

Wilson said results of the poll might not be announced until Monday.

ROCKETS SUFFER 'CAUSE BROWNS BEAT 49ERS

By The United Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 — The Chicago Rockets were suffering today because the Cleveland Browns beat out the San Francisco 49ers for the All-America football conference's Western division title.

Cleveland clinched the western championship last Sunday and the Forty-Niners, their closest rivals, ran off some of their disappointment last night by crushing the Rockets, 41-16, before a crowd of 5,791 at Soldiers' Field.

What Causes Foot Trouble

Women are often said to invite trouble by the shoes they wear. Whether this is true or not, the fact remainh that painful feet are far more common among women than men.

A great many women have the idea that their feet would be "all right" if only they could get rid of certain bunions, calluses, or corns, and the doctor often has difficulty in explaining to them that, like pain, all such things are the result of foot strain and not the cause of it.

Thus, the first step in the treatment of aching feet is to find the cause of the strain. Far more often than most people realize, strain and, hence, pain are due to some inherited abnormality in the structure of the feet.

Among these abnormalities, perhaps the first in importance is shortness of the first metatarsal bone. The metatarsal bones are those just behind the toes. Sometimes, what are known as sesamoid bones are present in the foot. These are loose bits of bone, but just why they develop is not known.

Another abnormality is a short heel cord. This causes the ankle bone to turn outward. If the first metatarsal bone is short or is not retained in the normal position, the ankle bone may roll inward and the foot may turn outward. In such cases, the arches of the feet may be high.

An X-ray of the feet, taken from the side, will help to show these various abnormalities. Once an abnormal condition is detected, the best treatment can be carried out.

Treatment, of course, includes the wearing of the proper shoe. This should be a wide, flexible shoe with a narrowed-in portion around the heel. The heel of the shoe should not be more than one and one-half inches high. A felt, rubber, or soft leather pad may be put in the front part of the shoe to give support to the first metatarsal bone. Heat, massage, and stretching exercises will increase the flexibility of the feet, and help to overcome pain and other symptoms.

Bunions, if they are present, may be removed surgically.

Many of these defects in the feet can be detected in infancy. In treating some of them, it may be necessary to put on a cast which is worn for several months. If the condition is severe, it may be necessary for the cast to be worn until the proper kind of shoe can be fitted.

Of course, the longer these foot defects are allowed to continue untreated, the worse the foot strain becomes, and the more difficult it is to correct the condition later on. Hence, it is important that the baby's feet be carefully examined and, if there is any indication of abnormalities, X-rays should be taken. Later on in life, the person must take care to wear the proper shoes, so that foot strain may be completely prevented.

19 OHIO TEAMS SET FOR GAMES TODAY

O.S.U.-Michigan and Denison-Wittenberg Tilts Draw Spot.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22 — This was the day for Ohio college football teams—the virtual end of a long season full of upsets and glory.

Only a five-game slate Thanksgiving day and the following day remained to be fought after today's 19-game carnival of cleats and collisions.

That battle-worn gridiron spotlight turned up with astigmatism, trying to focus on two games at once—the meeting of the bruised Buckeyes of Ohio State and the Wolverines of Michigan at Ann Arbor and the contest between the unbeaten-untied Big Reds of Denison university and Wittenberg college at Granville.

Denison, gunning for its first spotless record in 59 years, hoped to sing a savage swan song to the 1947 season against the underdog Lutherans of Wittenberg—and had expectations of doing just that.

Wes Fesler's Ohio Staters, on the other hand, had only hopes, for the mighty Michiganders had the scent of the Rose Bowl in their postrils as they took the field in the vast Ann Arbor bowl. The Wolverines, too, were unbeaten-untied and planned to stay that way.

Other conference contests are John Carroll at Akron, Wooster at Mount Union, and Ohio Wesleyan at Oberlin.

Seven games are of the interstate variety on the weekend books, headed by the Ohio State-Michigan fray. Others are Baldwin-Wallace at Oklahoma City university, Bowling Green at William and Mary, Butler university at Cincinnati, St. Bonaventure at Dayton, Toledo at Canisius, Otterbein at Rollins, and West Virginia State at Wilberforce State.

In a "just for fun" event, Xavier's swashbuckling Musketeers invade Athens for a tilt with the Bobcats of Ohio university.

In a Friday night contest, Youngstown college tripped Kent State, 13-0, with Al Campana doing the scoring. Campana trotted 76 yards in the third quarter for one marker.

CLARIDON CAGERS LOSE, 46-24, AT HOWARD

Claridon traveled to Howard last night and absorbed a 46 to 24 walloping at the hands of the Knox county combine. Howard put the game on ice in the first half with a 34 to 11 score. The game was played on fairly even terms in the final half.

Claridon reserves emerged the winners in a preliminary, 23-20.

Wednesday the Claridon quintet will begin county competition by entertaining Pleasant.

ments provide grounds for qualified optimism. On the one hand, the American policy-makers have at last recognized the folly of our high-handed past dealings with the French government. The practical situation in Germany does not permit endless delays for Anglo-Franco-American haggling. But the French will not again be asked, with ungenial brusqueness, to accept accomplished facts in Germany. This is part of the great change typified in General Clay's own thinking. A year ago, Clay could be accused of suffering from German localitis. Now, however, his whole thought is concentrated on the broad reconstruction of Western Europe, and he sees the rehabilitation of Germany as only a part in this larger whole.

Meanwhile, in Paris also, there has been a change of heart in many quarters. The currency problem, and the developing dollar deficit in the French zone of Germany, are both forcing the French to consider the need for a German administration that will really work. Two representatives of the French foreign office, Beaumarchais and DeLabourlaye, have actually visited Berlin in recent weeks to survey the possibility of a tri-zonal merger. Thus there seems to be some possibility of a sound cooperative solution. After that, the task will be to make the solution a success.

Lamotta Suspended By N.Y. Athletic Board

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — Jake Lamotta can fight no more in New York state, at least until the grand jury and the district attorney's office complete their investigation of his fourth-round knockout by Philadelphia's Billy Fox.

The state athletic commission handed the Bronx middleweight an indefinite suspension yesterday on a charge of concealing vital facts about his physical condition prior to his Madison Square Garden appearance a week ago Friday night.

At the same time, the commission ruled that the purses of both fighters would be held up until the D.A.'s office concludes its investigation.

In nine seasons of pro football, Sammy Baugh completed 889 passes in 1,375 attempts.

Michigan, Illinois, Dominat Positions on I.N.S. All Big

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—Ex-champion Illinois and now-champ Michigan each placed three men today on the International News Service All-Big Nine football team for 1947.

Five more Michigan players made the second team and th others were tabbed for honorable mention in conscientious balloting by I.N.S. experts, coaches, and their assistants throughout the Western conference.

Hard-charging linemen who refuse to be trapped and hard-running backs who have to be stopped—not just "hit"—marked the first-string lineup which averaged 198 pounds from end to end and 182 a man in the backfield.

Completing the first-string eleven, in addition to the Illinois and Michigan trios, were halfback Harry Szulborski and tackle Phil O'Reilly of Purdue, guard and team captain Howard Brown of Indiana, and two sensational sophomores—center Bob Wilson of Wisconsin and guard Leo Nomellini of Minnesota.

For Michigan, in a landslide, it was halfbacks Bob Chappuis and Bump Elliott, two great Negro flankers—Bob Mann of Michigan and Ike Owens of Illinois—comprised the all-star ends while Illinois also placed Alex Agase's "kid brother" Lou at tackle and workhorse Russ Steger, plunging halfback and greatest defensive back in the league.

Chappuis was the only repeater from last year's I.N.S. All-Big Nine eleven.

The second team—ends, Ford, Michigan, and Mihajlovich, Indiana; tackles, Widseth, Minnesota, and Pritula, Michigan; guards, Tomasi, Michigan, and Wrenn, Illinois; center, Levanti, Illinois; backs, Weisenberger, Michigan, Moss, Illinois, Taliaferro, Indiana, and Yerges, Michigan.

Ollie Cline of Ohio State was the only Buckeye to receive mention in the poll.

Alums Edge Pleasant 34-29, in Overtime

Pleasant alumni edged out Pleasant High school, 34-29, in an overtime period last night. The varsity cagers lost two regulars, Gorby and Dickeson, on fouls in the overtime period. Bob Debolt tied Charles Meyers for high scorng with 8 points apiece.

In a preliminary game, the Pleasant juniors beat New Bloomington juniors, 18-9.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — The downward drift continued for most leading stocks in today's market although offerings never were oppressive.

Professionals again cashed in on the idea that the list had enjoyed a normal technical recovery and was more or less vulnerable.

Good dividends still were pretty well ignored. Business optimism inspired a certain amount of bidding.

Dealings slowed after a fairly active start but fractional declines predominated near the final hour.

Among isolated strong spots were Western Maryland railway common and second preferred. Occasional improvement was recorded for American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, Dow Chemical, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific. Laggards most of the time included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, Johns-Manville, Pennsylvania railroad and Baltimore & Ohio.

NOTICE

In Re: Maranatha Bible Church, Marion, Ohio.

To whom it may concern:

You are hereby notified that on the 7th day of November, A. D. 1947, the trustees of Maranatha Bible Church, a religious society duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, filed its Petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, Being Cause No. 29361, praying for an order of the Court to mortgage the following described real estate.

"Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio and in the City of Marion and bounded and described as follows: Being part of Lot No. 252 in the Village (now City) of Marion, Ohio and described by beginning at the southeast corner of said lot No. 252; thence north with the regular lines and streets of said Village, now city of Marion, Ohio, 40 feet; thence west with the lines aforesaid 129 feet; thence south with the lines of lots 40 feet to Canal, now Columbia Street; thence east with the lines aforesaid 120 feet to the place of beginning."

The prayer of the Petition is that said corporation be authorized to mortgage the above described real estate for the purpose of financing the purchase of said real estate from The First Church of The Nazarene, of Marion, Ohio and for other equitable relief.

Said cause will be for hearing on Dec. 9, 1947 at 10:00 o'clock A. M. or as soon thereafter as the same can be heard.

Maranatha Bible Church, a religious society, a corporation not for profit.

By Earl L. Holliday, Arnold Ferrel and Homer E. Holliday, Its trustees.

John H. Clark, its attorney.
